It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Totals	$160,712,475	$106,116,950	$93,091,600

Eight agreements of consolidation between railroad and bridge companies have been filed during the year; the authorized capital of the eight new consolidated companies aggregating $59,615,000, as compared with the $48,547,000 capital of seven companies formed by consolidation in 1886. One hundred and thirteen companies have increased their aggregate capital stock from $61,072,775 to $158,376,750, as compared with an increase from $20,792,375 to $57,576,000 by 58 companies in 1886. Eight companies, as compared with 12 in 1886, have reduced their capital stock. The names of 24 corporations have been changed during the year, as compared with 14 in 1886. Forty miscellaneous certificates have been filed, as compared with 15 in 1886. Five hundred and eighty seven certificates of subscription have been filed, as compared with 385 in 1886. Fourteen railway equipment contracts have been filed, as compared with 11 in 1886. In short, the corporation business of the office has been fully one-third larger than ever before, and may be taken as a clear indication of the earnest business effort of our people during the past year. The popularity of corporate enterprises in Ohio is also shown, almost every class of corporations being represented in the list for 1887. While there has been an increase in the number of almost every kind of corporation, the most noticeable increase has been in the number of gas companies, most of them natural gas companies. In 1883 but 8 of these companies were formed; in 1884 but 10, among them the Findlay Natural Gas Company. This company was the pioneer company, in the discovery of natural gas in Northwestern Ohio. It drilled in its first well in December, 1884, and the discovery was followed by the incorporation of a large number of gas companies throughout the state. In 1885, 37 were formed, as compared with 10 during the previous year; 89 such companies were organized in 1886; whilst during 1887, 183 gas companies, with an aggregate capital of $12,788,575, have been incorporated. The increase in building and loan associations is also noteworthy, the number incorporated in 1887 being 84, with an aggregate capital of $53,731,000, as compared with 62 companies with an aggregate capital of $35,292,000 incorporated in 1886. Two hundred and fifty-seven manufacturing corporations have been organized during the year, as compared with 205 in 1886. But these manufacturing corporations have as a rule been small as compared with those formed in 1886, the aggregate capital stock of the 205 corporations organized during the latter year exceeding that of the 257 incorporated during the past year by $8,249,000. The increase in the number of colleges, literary societies, churches, political, benevolent, social and mutual societies, and corporations of a miscellaneous character incorporated, is likewise remarkable, and evidences the popular appreciation of corporate privileges in Ohio. For a wealthy commercial state like Ohio the number of banks and savings institutions organized each year is small, the number in 1883, 1884, 1885, 1886 and 1887 being but 11, 10, 2, 6 and 11 respectively. This is due to no lack of riches or want of business enterprise among our people, but is owing solely to the need of a proper law, conferring corporate banking privileges free from harsh restrictions.

FORMATION OF BANKING CORPORATIONS.

Articles of incorporation are constantly being presented at this department, of banking corporations, which parties propose to form under sections 3235 and 3236 of the Revised Statutes. These sections permit the formation of corporations for any lawful purpose, except dealing in real estate and carrying on professional business, and if banking corporations can be organized thereunder, such corporations would be practically free from all governmental inspection or other restriction, being placed on the same footing as manufacturing and other corporations. Whilst the language of these sections is undoubtedly broad enough to allow of the creation of almost any kind of corporation under the same, I have nevertheless had doubts as to whether banking corporations could be organized under their provisions, owing to the fact that the General Assembly has made special provision for the creation of corporations authorized to carry on the business of free banking, taken in connection with the decision of the Supreme Court in The State vs. Stock Company, 38 Ohio State, 347. These doubts have been strengthened by a recent opinion of the Attorney-General, in which he declines to approve the articles of incorporation of a bank proposed to be formed under sections 3235 and 3236 aforesaid. In this opinion he says:

"It is well understood that the business of banking, in a commercial sense, authorizes the exercise of and includes other powers than that of issuing notes to circulate as money, such as receiving deposits, loaning money, etc. And while the phrase 'banking powers' has been held to have the restricted meaning, namely, the power to issue notes to circulate as money, or in other words, a bank of issue, nevertheless the business of banking in the commercial sense referred to, such as the right to receive deposits, discount paper, make loans, deal in exchange, etc., has been specially provided for by legislation in this state. In short, the formation of banking companies, exercising the powers and transacting the business which this company proposes to exercise and engage in, is provided for by special statutes, to wit: the act of 1851, entitled 'An act to authorize free banking.' Section 1 of that act provides 'that any number of natural persons, not less than three, may engage in the business of banking, with all the rights, privileges and powers conferred by and subject to the restrictions of this act.' The certificate to be made in such cases, where to be deposited, capital stock, per cent. to be paid in, who may vote at elections, eligibility of officers, and liability of stockholders, are matters carefully and minutely set forth in that act, as well as the prohibition not to circulate evidences of debt as money. Another act found upon the subject of banking is that relating to savings and loan associations (sections 3797-3821, Revised Statutes), in which the organization of such banks, their powers and duties are minutely and carefully set forth. The nature of the business of banking, the large amount of capital frequently employed, and the trusts necessarily imposed are such, that it seems to have been the settled policy of the state, from an early period, not to permit the formation of banking corporations to be carried on under general laws, but to make special provision for banking corporations dealing in money, making loans, and having the custody in the aggregate of large sums of money. To disregard the special statutes relating to the organization and incorporation of banking companies, and allow such associations to organize under the general provisions of section 3235, Revised Statutes, is, in my judgment, wholly inadmissible. In the case of an insurance company in this state, organized under this last section, an action in quo warranto was instituted, and in the decision of the case the court (Judge McIlvaine) held: 'That inasmuch as the subject of insurance was regulated in this state by special laws on that subject, no insurance company could be incorporated under the general provisions of section 8235.' I think, therefore, that the application should be, for the reasons stated, rejected. If the persons named in this certificate desire to engage in the business set forth, ample provision is made on that subject, and they have only to follow the steps marked out."

There has been much inquiry made at this department during the year as to the means provided by law for the formation of banking corporations. This has been caused, to some extent, by the rapid decrease in the National debt, and the consequent taking away from the National banks of the bonds which they have owned and the Government has held as security for their circulation. As these bonds are gradually taken up and paid, it is becoming more and more difficult for National banks to provide the necessary security for their circulation. As a result many of them desire to surrender their charters and incorporate under state laws. And again, there are private bankers in Ohio, not desiring a circulation, to whom articles of incorporation would secure many advantages, but who have not incorporated under state laws for the reason that there is no law on the statute books providing satisfactorily for the incorporation of banks of loan, discount, deposit and exchange. Under the constitution of 1802 the Ohio banks were organized under special acts of the Legislature. The last General Assembly, under that constitution, on the 21st day of March, 1851, passed the general act authorizing free banking. Following this in September came the constitution of 1851, section 1 of the schedule, and section 7 of article XIII, of which provided, respectively, that "all laws of this State in force on the first day of September, 1851, not inconsistent with this constitution, shall continue in force until amended or repealed"; and "No act of the General Assembly authorizing associations with banking powers shall take effect until it shall be submitted to the people, at the general election next succeeding the passage thereof, and be approved by a majority of all the electors voting at such election." Said act of March 21, 1851, was thought by many to be in conflict with said section 7 of article XIII, and therefore void under section 1 of the schedule above referred to. However, this question was settled to the contrary in 1856 by the Supreme Court, the Judges holding in the case of Citizens' Bank of Steubenville v. Wright, Auditor, 6 Ohio State, 319, that "the act of March 21, 1851, 'to regulate free banking,' is not inconsistent with the constitution of 1851, and is not therefore by implication repealed by it." Supported by this decision, the act authorizing free banking, with important amendments in 1873 and 1879, has remained in force to the present day. This act, however, is not in harmony with chapter 1, title

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

2, part 2 of the Revised Statutes, "Creation of Corporations." The methods provided therein for the creation of banking companies are complex and difficult. Many of its provisions are unreasonable and inapplicable to the business of banking as now carried on. Yet this law, the statute authorizing the formation of savings and loan associations, and the obsolete act to incorporate the State Bank of Ohio and other banking companies, are the only three laws under which a banking corporation can be formed in Ohio. Until the year 1885, it was a mooted question in Ohio, whether or not the words "associations with banking powers," above quoted, included banks of loan, discount, deposit and exchange, as well as banks of issue. February 26th, 1873, the General Assembly passed the act to incorporate savings and loan associations. In 1880 this statute was revised and consolidated with other general corporation laws of Ohio, and became Chapter 16 of Title 2, Part 2 of the Revised Statutes. The unconstitutionality of this statute was affirmed from its passage, the same having never been submitted to a vote of the people. In 1885 the question of its constitutionality came before the Supreme Court in the case of Dearborn v. Northwestern Savings Bank, reported in 42 Ohio State, page 617, and the court held, that the "phrase 'associations with banking powers,' as used in section 7, article XIII of the constitution, relates only to banks of issue." This decision disposed of any question which may have previously existed as to the power of the General Assembly absolutely to provide for the creation of banks of loan, discount, deposit and exchange; and in view of the defects contained in existing legislation upon the subject of banks, it is important that some proper provision should be made for their creation and regulation, and that the free banking law of 1851 and the other unrepealed and obsolete banking laws of Ohio, should be revised in the same manner as was done with the act authorizing the incorporation of savings and loan associations. This free banking law is the only law under which corporations can be formed to do general banking. It does not provide convenient, popular, or reasonable methods for banking. Private individuals desiring to do a general banking business, and National banks surrendering their National franchises will not incorporate under it. As a rule, they choose rather to do business as individuals or as partnerships, in preference to being governed by a law whose provisions are largely unreasonable, in part inapplicable to their business, and which would subject them to unfair exactions. As a result of this, in some instances, savings and loan associations are stretching their franchises to do a general banking business, whilst in many other cases individuals and partnerships are acting as general bankers, subject to no state inspection, and to no restrictions whatever. In my judgment, this state of affairs is not nearly so desirable to the public or to the banks as that there should be a reasonable and just revision and consolidation of the act to incorporate the State Bank of Ohio, and other banking companies, the act to authorize free banking, the act to incorporate savings and loan associations, and the other unrepealed banking laws of Ohio, all into one chapter of the Revised Statutes, entitled, "Chapter 16, Title 2, Part 2, 'Banks.'"

CORPORATIONS SHOULD BE REQUIRED TO REPORT.

By section 3268 of the Revised Statutes, every corporation organized under the laws of this state is required to make an annual statement of its financial condition, setting forth its assets and liabilities, and to furnish to each stockholder a true copy of the same, together with a list of shareholders and their places of residence. The legislation of other states goes farther, and looking to the interests of creditors, and persons dealing with the corporation or its stockholders, requires such statement to be made a matter of public record in the office of the Secretary of State, where the same may be subject to inspection by any person interested. The Secretary of State is continually applied to for statements of the financial condition of the various corporations doing business in Ohio, as to the amount of their capital stock authorized, paid up and issued, the names of their shareholders, the number of shares standing in each stockholder's name, the names of officers, etc.; all of which questions he is unable to answer, for the reason that these facts do not appear of record in his office. Where suits are brought against insolvent corporations or their stockholders, it is of the greatest importance to creditors and others, that some one or all of these facts should be known, and it is always a matter of embarrassment when they are unknown. For example, attorneys have found it almost impossible to successfully carry on suits against the stockholders of the fraudulent and insolvent Bohemian oats companies formed in Ohio a year or two ago, because in many cases the companies' records have been spirited away, and the information contained in them is not elsewhere to be had. It is also a question often asked of the Secretary of State, how many corporations are doing business in Ohio at the present time. Persons desiring to reach all the corporations engaged in any particular line of business frequently apply for lists of such corporations. Information like this cannot be given, for the reason that corporations doing business in Ohio are not required to report to the Secretary of State, or to any one else, excepting, of course, railroad and insurance companies. This seems to me to be a defect in our corporate legislation, and one which it would be well for us to remedy by borrowing a leaf or two from the statute books of other states. Some of these states not only require such reports to be filed, but even derive considerable revenue from this source. The statutes of Massachusetts, from which Ohio has already borrowed so much, are also admirable upon this subject. They provide in substance as follows:

Every corporation formed for purposes of profit, under the laws of this state, and doing business in this state, save and except railroad companies, insurance companies, banking companies and building and loan associations, shall annually make and file in the office of the Secretary of State, within thirty days after the date fixed in its regulations for its annual meeting, and if the date of its annual meeting be not fixed in the regulations of the corporation, then within thirty days after the first Monday in January, a certificate signed and sworn to by its president, treasurer and a majority of its directors, stating the time of the annual corporate meeting, the amount of its capital stock as it then stands fixed by the corporation, the amount then paid up, the amount then issued, the name of each shareholder and the number of shares then standing in his name, the assets and liabilities of the corporation, and the names and places of residence of all of its officers, in such form and with such detail as the Secretary of State shall require or approve.

When a corporation fails for two successive years to make such annual statement, the Secretary of State may apply to the Supreme Court for a dissolution of such corporation, and the court, after due notice to all parties interested, and a hearing, may for reasonable cause decree a dissolution of the corporation.

REGULATION OF FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

Foreign corporations are not protected by that provision in the constitution of the United States which guarantees to the citizens of each state all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several states. The state has power to prohibit foreign corporations from doing any business in the state, or of regulating the business, or of prohibiting it from suing in its courts. The state of Ohio, however, has never exercised its undoubted powers to restrict or regulate the privileges of foreign corporations doing business within its limits. On the contrary our statutes are free from everything looking like a restriction or regulation of the powers of such corporations, saving the just regulations imposed on foreign insurance companies. Our courts have declared it to be the policy of the state not only to permit, but to invite the operation of foreign corporations in this state on a perfectly equal footing with domestic corporations. They have said, it would be strange were it otherwise. To invite their co-operation in works of great public concern and then discriminate against them in point of right to use and enjoy their property in this state, would not only be unjust to them, but unwise for the state. The policy of Ohio in matters of this kind is founded upon that spirit of comity which ought to exist in all of the states. But, as a matter of fact, this policy is not reciprocated fully by some of the other states, and perhaps ought not to be, for our laws are liberal almost to a fault towards corporations of all kinds. Some of the states have adopted regulations for foreign corporations which have been thought by some to bear particularly hard upon some of our large manufacturing corporations which do business in other states, and the question is not infrequently asked, why Ohio does not retaliate with legislation of the same general character. An examination of this matter has brought to light the fact, that whilst the legislation of some of the states places foreign corporations under certain restrictions, yet in the same states the laws governing their domestic corporations are equally of the same restrictive character. There is really no discrimination, but merely a tendency to deal unkindly with all corporations, domestic as well as foreign. Indeed in the methods adopted elsewhere to regulate the operations of foreign corporations, there are some things which Ohio can imitate with profit. For example, Massachusetts and Colorado have statutes providing a ready and convenient means for obtaining service upon foreign corporations in all suits, the Secretary of State being by law made the lawful attorney of all foreign corporations doing business within the state, upon whom process may be legally served in all actions and proceedings. Again, convenient methods are provided for obtaining proof of the corporate character of foreign corporations, as well as of their powers and duties, they being compelled to file a copy of their articles of incorporation and laws under which they are organized with the Secretary of State. They are also compelled to file a sworn statement of their financial condition, and the names and places of residence of their stockholders and officers. In all suits brought against foreign corporations or their stockholders, it is indispensable that some one or all of these facts should be known. The following is in substance the law of Massachusetts and Colorado upon this subject:

SEC. 1. Every corporation organized under the laws of any other state or territory, and now or hereafter doing business or having a usual place of business within this state, shall, before commencing or doing any further business within this state, appoint in writing the secretary of state, and his successor in office, to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom all lawful processes in any action or proceeding against it may be served, and in such writing shall agree that any lawful process against it which is served on said attorney shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served on the company, and that the authority shall continue in force so long as any liability remains outstanding against the company in this state. Said writing, appointing the secretary of state attorney as aforesaid, duly executed and acknowledged as required by the laws of this state, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and copies certified by him shall be deemed sufficient evidence thereof. Service upon such attorney shall be deemed sufficient service upon the principal.

SEC. 2. When legal process against any such company is served upon said secretary of state, he shall immediately notify the company of such service by letter, with postage prepaid, directed in the case of a company of a foreign country to the resident manager, if any, in this country; and shall, within two days after such service, forward in the same manner a copy of the process served on him to such corporation or manager, or to any person designated by the company in writing. The plaintiff in each process so served shall pay to the secretary of state at the time of such service a fee of two dollars, which shall be recovered by him as part of the taxable costs, if he prevails in the suit. The secretary of state shall keep a record of all processes served upon him, which record shall show the day and hour when such service was so made.

SEC. 3. Every such company hereafter doing business in this state, before transacting business in this state, and on the last secular day of each year, shall file with the secretary of state a certified statement, signed and sworn to by its president and treasurer and at least a majority of its directors, or officers having the powers usually exercised by directors, of the amount of its authorized capital stock, the amount of same then paid up and issued, and if any part of such payment has been made otherwise than in money, the statement shall set forth the particulars thereof; of the amount of the assets and liabilities of said company itemized; of the names and places of residence of each shareholder and the number of shares then standing in his name; and of the names and places of residence of all its officers, in such detail as the secretary of state shall require or approve. All such companies now doing business in this state shall file such statement on or before the 31st day of December of the present year, and annually thereafter on the 31st day of December of each year, or 30th when the 31st falls on Sunday, provided such business is thereafter continued. Every officer of a corporation which fails to comply with the requirements of this and the two preceding sections, and every agent of such corporation who transacts business as such in this state, shall, for such failure, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars; but such failure shall not affect the validity of any contract by or with such corporation. Every such company shall pay to the secretary of state ten dollars for filing the statement required by this section.

SEC. 4. Every company incorporated under the laws of any foreign state or kingdom, or of any state or territory of the United States, beyond the limits of this state, and now or hereafter doing business in this state, shall file in the office of the secretary of state a duly authenticated copy of its charter or articles or certificate of incorporation; and in case such corporation is incorporated by articles or certificate of incorporation under any general corporation law, a copy of such articles or certificate and of such general corporation law, duly certified and authenticated by the proper authority of such foreign state, kingdom or territory.

A failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall render each and every officer, agent and stockholder of any such corporation, so failing herein, jointly and severally personally liable on any and all contracts of such corporation made within this state during the time such corporation is so in default.

The several articles, certificates, charters and laws mentioned in this section shall be by the secretary of state filed and preserved in his office as a part of the records thereof, and he shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five dollars for receiving and filing every such certificate and statute. Copies of such articles, certificates, charters and laws, duly certified by the secretary of state under his seal of office, shall be received in all courts of this state as sufficient evidence of the corporate character of such corporations and of all their powers, duties and liabilities, and the originals thereof may in like manner be used in evidence of these matters with like effect.

SEC. 5. This act shall not apply to foreign insurance, banking or railroad companies.

PREVENTION OF SIMILARITY IN CORPORATE NAMES.

The name of a corporation is often to it a valuable property. Such name is not infrequently applied in connection with the products of the corporation, and becomes to it like unto a common law trade-mark. The name of a well-known, long established corporation, noted for the honesty of its dealings or for the excellence of its products, thus applied to a manufactured article, will often promote sales where otherwise they could not be made. For this very reason a constant effort is being made on the part of corporations newly organizing to appropriate the names already rendered valuable by the expenditure of time, money, enterprise, etc., on the part of older corporations. Sometimes the name desired to be used is not identical with that of the established corporation, but still is so nearly like unto it as to tend to deceive and mislead the public into dealing with, or purchasing the products of the new corporation, under the mistaken idea that they are dealing with or purchasing the products of the old. Not only is the old corporation deprived by this appropriation or imitation of its name, of valuable advantages and rights which ought in justice to belong to it alone, but it is also sometimes subjected to many petty annoyances at the post-office, and elsewhere, by this similarity in corporate name, which it does not deserve. The secretaries of state of Ohio have resisted to the utmost this appropriation of corporate names already rendered valuable by the industry, integrity and means of older corporations; but unfortunately our statutes give the Secretary of State no express power to prevent such appropriation, the exercise of such power by him being justified merely and solely by an opinion of the Attorney-General, that such appropriation is unlawful, and that it is the duty of the Secretary of State as agent of the state, on the ground of public policy and independent of statute, to refuse to consent to and approve of the same by filing the articles of incorporation of such new corporations. Corporations are multiplying rapidly in Ohio. Enterprise, advertising, industry, excellence of product, etc., are all or some of them in many cases uniting in rendering the name of established business corporations valuable. It is therefore every day becoming more and more important that the Secretary of State be given unquestioned powers, if he, as is often claimed, has not got them already, to prevent what in point of justice and sound morality amounts to little less, if anything, than the wrongful appropriation of property belonging to some one else. Established corporations should not be compelled to look to the courts for redress against a wrong committed, whilst more easily in the very beginning the commission itself of the wrong may be prevented.

SOCIAL CLUBS.

In my last annual report, the advisability of investing the Secretary of State with discretionary powers as to permitting the filing of articles of incorporation in cases where he has reason to believe that the real purpose is not stated, and that if stated the same would be unlawful, was spoken of. Following this suggestion, a bill was introduced last winter, giving the Secretary of State power to decline to file articles of incorporation, where he has reason to think the real purpose intended to be unlawful. This bill passed the Senate, but failed for want of time to be brought before the House. The need of such discretionary powers was felt a year or two ago, in the case of the Bohemian oats companies, whose ostensible purpose was "to buy and sell seed and grain," but whose real purpose was to defraud. During the past year, the need of such discretionary powers has again been felt, in the case of social clubs, proposed to be incorporated in municipalities which have voted in favor of local option under the Dow law. In many of the incorporated villages which have thus adopted local option, social clubs have been formed, which present articles of incorporation to the Secretary of State for filing, wherein their purpose is stated as being literary, benevolent, charitable, just as they think best, whilst the Secretary of State and every body else knows that their real purpose is to evade the Dow law in the sale of intoxicating liquors. Many of the saloons in Delaware are incorporated for the purpose of "preserving, perpetuating and advancing among themselves and the members thereof, literary and social interests, and for the other purposes and objects usually subserved by a fraternity and a club not organized for profit and having no capital stock." Prior to the incorporation of any of these clubs, protests were filed against the filing of their articles of incorporation by some of the best citizens of Ohio. Acting at the request of these citizens, and being assured by them that the real purpose of these clubs was the evasion of the local option feature of the Dow law, I referred the articles of incorporation of six of them to the Attorney-General, for his opinion as to the duty of the Secretary of State in the premises. On the 12th day of July last, he gave the following opinion:

JULY 12, 1887.

Hon. J. S. Robinson, Secretary of State:

DEAR SIR: Your letter of June 24, relating to articles of incorporation of the proposed "Delaware Club," and also similar articles of a number of other clubs, received.

I have given the matter careful attention, especially in view of the supposition that the real object of these clubs is for the avoidance of the provisions of the ordinance recently adopted by the Councils of the city of Delaware and other places where such clubs are being formed, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor.

Section 3235 of the Revised Statutes provides that "Corporations may be formed in the manner provided in this chapter for any purpose for which individuals may lawfully associate themselves, except for dealing in real estate, or carrying on professional business; and if the organization is for profit, it must have a capital stock."

So far as the articles before me are concerned, nothing appears to indicate that the association has any unlawful purpose or design in view. Individuals may lawfully associate themselves for the purpose stated in these articles, and it cannot be assumed that the individuals entering into this organization will do any unlawful act or abuse the franchise granted.

I am therefore of the opinion that so far as these articles of incorporation are concerned (the proper fee being tendered), that it is the duty of the Secretary of State to file the articles.

Such incorporation would not, in my judgment, give any warrant to such club or a member thereof to violate the provisions of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of or giving away intoxicating liquors. It will be sufficient to act when it is shown as a fact that any unlawful or improper use is made of the act of incorporation, or that the law of the state or municipality is being violated. Until such acts are shown, it must be presumed that the laws of the state, as well as any duly adopted ordinance of any municipality, will be carefully observed.

Yours, very truly,

J. A. KOHLER, Attorney-General.

These clubs are still incorporating in villages which have adopted local option. Under the opinion above set forth, they will necessarily continue to be incorporated, until the legislature sees fit to forbid it, or invests the Secretary of State with the discretionary powers which he has hitherto suggested be given him.

RECORDING OF RAILWAY CONTRACTS.

Inquiries are frequently made at this office for copies of leases from some one railroad company to another; for copies of traffic agreements between railroad companies; and for copies of the agreements between railroad companies forming joint through freight lines. Railway contracts such as these, though often of the greatest interest to the public, are seldom if ever recorded with the county recorders and never in the office of the Commissioner of Railroads or in this office. The law requires railway equipment contracts to be filed with the Secretary of State, and it seems to me, that with equal or greater propriety, though for different reasons, railway companies should be compelled to file or record the contracts above named, either in this office or in that of the Commissioner of Railroads, where the same will be open to the inspection of any person interested therein.

FEES.

The large increase during the year in the number of corporations formed has been followed by a corresponding increase in the amount of fees collected, the same having amounted as follows:

First quarter.....	$7,538 50
Second quarter	9,193 25
Third quarter.....	7,535 00
Fourth quarter	6,454 05
Total for year.....	$30,720 80

The fee law for this office was enacted in March, 1884. It was in operation for but eight months of the fiscal year, ending November 15, 1884. Beginning with 1884, the amount of fees each year has been as follows :

Year.	Amount.	Increase.
1884	$10,572 40
1885	17,110 27	$6,537 87
1886	22,152 89	5,042 67
1887	30,720 80	8,567 91

These figures and the large increase in the amount of the corporate business of the office emphasize the remark made in my report of last year, that as a revenue measure the act of March 18, 1884, is a success, whilst the main object proposed by it, the diminution in the number of corporations formed, is, and since the passage of the act has been, a failure. The fees fixed by this act are large, but they are not large enough, and can hardly be made so, to keep down the number of corporate enterprises, good or bad, which the people of Ohio desire to organize. As long as there is profit in them, corporations will be formed by men of capital, regardless of the amount of fees to be paid to the state for the franchises. Heavy taxes upon the granting of corporate franchises tend only to monopoly and not to prohibition. It is only men of moderate means, promoters of small ventures, who are pinched by such a law. Most of our Ohio corporations are of this class. To them a dollar is every inch a dollar, and upon them this law is to some degree oppressive. It were better, it seems to me, to encourage this class by incorporating companies having a capital of less than $25,000.00 free, or for at least a nominal fee, and doubling the amount of fees to be paid by corporations having a capital of over that amount, than to levy a burdensome tax on the smaller corporate enterprises of the state, which are less able to bear it. As a revenue measure the fee law of 1884 is a success, as compared with the law it supplanted ; but regarded even as a revenue measure pure and simple, as it must properly be, for, for all other purposes it amounts to nothing, it will hardly compare with the laws of some of the other states upon the same subject. In Alabama, Arizona, Dakota, Connecticut (a heavy tax is also laid in this state upon the grant of corporate franchises), Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and in perhaps some of the other states and territories, the fees charged in the creation of corporations are merely nominal, varying from the actual expense of recording and copying the papers to $5.00 or $10.00 for each corporation formed ; whilst the total receipts range from $150.00 per year in Nevada, and $200.00 in Alabama to $5,000.00 in Wisconsin, and $6,000.00 in Illinois. But in Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Massachusetts, Maine, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas and West Virginia, the policy exists of making the organization of new corporations a source of revenue to the state. In Arkansas a fee of $25.00 is charged for incorporating all manufacturing and commercial corporations without reference to capital; $2.50 for educational and benevolent corporations, whilst for the incorporation of railroad companies fees are charged varying from $50.00 to $200.00, according to the number of miles of railroad to be constructed. Arkansas derives a revenue of $5,000.00 per annum from this source. In California the sum of $2,000.00 per month, or $24,000.00 per annum, is raised from the granting of corporate franchises; all of which goes to the state treasury. Colorado collects $20,000.00 per annum, and Iowa $28,000.00 from the same source. The laws of Massachusetts are substantially the same as our own, a maximum fee of $200.00 being charged. In that state over $10,000.00 are collected annually in fees for the creation of corporations. In Maine the maximum fee is placed at $55.00, whilst the receipts are about the same as in Massachusetts. The constitution and laws of Missouri provide that no corporation, company or association, other than those formed for benevolent, religious, scientific or educational purposes, shall be created or organized under the laws of this state, unless the persons named as incorporators shall, at or before the filing of the articles of association or incorporation, pay into the state treasury fifty dollars for the first fifty thousand dollars or less of capital stock, and a further sum of five dollars for every additional ten thousand dollars of its capital stock. And no such corporation, company or association shall increase its capital stock without first paying into the treasury five dollars for every ten thousand dollars of increase. Under this law, the fees paid into the State Treasury for the filing of articles of incorporation, amounted in 1886 to $51,901.25, and from January 1, 1887, to September 20, to about $5,000. In New Jersey, the fees collected in 1887 for the granting of corporate franchises, will amount to about $35,000. Rhode Island collects a revenue from this source by levying a heavy tax on new corporations prior to organization. In Texas the fees charged are limited in amount only by the amount of the capital stock of the new corporation. They range from $10 for incorporating a church or missionary society to $100 for incorporating a railroad company with a capital stock of $100,000 or less, and for each additional $100,000 of capital the sum of $25 is charged. West Virginia raises a revenue of $15,000 per annum from this source. Their uniform charge for issuing a certificate of incorporation is $6, without regard to the amount of the capital stock. In addition to this fee their laws impose a license tax on all corporations, save religious, benevolent and educational corporations of $10, on such as do business within the state, and $50 on such as do business without. In Pennsylvania the maximum fee is $75. Under the laws of that state the amount of the capital stock of a corporation is not taken into consideration in determining the amount of fees, and all corporations newly forming, except railroad companies, building and loan associations, bridge and insurance companies, are required, by law, to pay a bonus of one-fourth of one per cent. upon the whole amount of their capital stock to the state, one-half of which is payable before the charter is granted, and the balance in one year thereafter. The fees received from the filing of articles of incorporation amount in Pennsylvania to about $25,000 each year, whilst the bonus for 1887 is estimated at $140,000. In other words, Pennsylvania will receive about $165,000 from the creation of new corporations in the year 1887. Under the legislation of New York, to which particular attention is invited, a moderate fee is charged for filing articles of incorporation; but a heavy tax is levied on stock companies for the privilege of organizing. This tax is levied under a law, which, in substance, is also in force in a number of other states. The same will be of interest as indicating a way in which Ohio will be able to collect a revenue of $200,000 per annum, should it ever become necessary or desirable. I am free to say, however, that I hope such necessity will never arise, for under our laws, corporate enterprise is, in my judgment, largely synonymous with business, and whilst just and proper regulation is needful, the great majority of corporations formed in Ohio deserve encouragement rather than repression. The following is a copy of the New York law referred to:

CHAPTER 143.

AN ACT

To tax stock corporations for the privilege of organization.

[Passed April 16, 1886; three-fifths being present.]

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Every corporation, joint-stock company or association incorporated by or under any general or special law of this state, having capital stock divided into shares, shall pay to the State Treasurer, for the use of the state, a tax of one-eighth of one per centum upon the amount of capital stock which said corporation, joint-stock company or association is authorized to have, and a like tax upon any subsequent increase thereof. The said tax shall be due and payable upon the incorporation of said corporation, joint-stock company or association, or upon the increase of the capital thereof; and no such corporation, joint-stock company or association shall have or exercise any corporate powers until the said tax shall have been paid. And the Secretary of State, and any county clerk, shall not file any certificate of incorporation or articles of association, or certify or give any certificate to any such corporation, joint-stock company or association, until he is satisfied that the said tax has been paid to the State Treasurer. And no such company incorporated by any special act of the legislature shall go into operation, or exercise any corporate powers or privileges until said tax has been paid as aforesaid. But this act shall not apply to literary, scientific, medical and religious corporations, or corporations organized under the banking laws of this state.

SEC. 2. The taxes imposed by this act, and the revenue derived therefrom, shall be applicable to the general fund, and for the payment of those claims and demands which shall constitute a lawful charge upon that fund.

SEC. 3 This act shall take effect immediately.

Under this law New York, for the year ending September 30, 1887, collected $201,663.99. For the same period the sum of $18 995.70 was also charged and collected as fees for filing articles of incorporation, etc. In short, the state of New York, during its last fiscal year, has derived a revenue of $220,659.69 from the creation of new corporations, under laws which make the granting of corporate franchises a substantial source of revenue to the state. If Ohio should so desire, she could, under similar laws, do nearly, if not quite, as well as New York in the amount of revenue to be collected from this source. New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Texas, and other states, by their legislation, seem to have declared corporate enterprises as fit subjects for the raising of revenue only, and as in nowise synonymous with business enterprise. Whether or not this be the correct view, is a subject-matter for our law-makers to consider hereafter.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

At the close of last year, five sets of weights and measures remained on hand unsold. One set of these has been sold during the year to the city of Elyria. For this set $115 has been received. The remaining four sets are yet in my possession.

GEOLOGICAL REPORTS.

Of the 78 copies of volume V. of the Geological report remaining in my hands at the close of the last fiscal year, 30 have been sold at $1 per volume; 48 copies yet remain in my hands unsold.

RECEIPTS.

The receipts of this office are derived from fees and from the sale of weights and measures and geological reports above-named. Thirty dollars also were received during the year from the auditor of Licking amount of sales of Revised Statutes of 1880. The receipts amounted to $22,532.89. This year they have amounted as

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

e year fourteen villages and one hamlet have been incorties and seven villages have filed certificates of annexation whilst one hamlet and four villages have been advanced a village and to cities of the second class. A list of all found in the accompanying statistical report.

SUPREME COURT REPORTS.

ie year the following number of volumes of the Supreme have been issued:

rk of Fulton county, one copy each of volumes 2, 3, 4, 6
 State Reports. During the year, 350 copies of volume 44, orts, have been received from the publishers, and of these
 e been distributed as follows:

To the Supreme Court, 25 copies ; to other states and territories, 45 copies; to county clerks, 88 copies. The three complete sets of Ohio Reports (volumes 1-20, inclusive), and Ohio State Reports (volumes 1-40), loaned by me to the Supreme Court in 1885, still remain in the hands of that body ; also, the four sets of Ohio and Ohio State Reports, which were issued to the Supreme Court Commission, as stated in the report for 1883, of Secretary Newman, and which on the dissolution of that body were turned over to the Supreme Court.

As the Supreme Judges seem to have need for these seven sets of reports, the Secretary of State should be relieved from responsibility for the same. The following is a statement of the number of reports on hand :

On the 8th day of July last, in accordance with a joint resolution of the General Assembly (84 O. L., 444), I entered into a contract in behalf of the state with Robert Clarke & Company, of Cincinnati, for the printing of volumes 45 and 46 of the Ohio State Reports. Under this contract the state will be furnished with 350 bound copies, and 225 copies of the advance sheets of each of said volumes free, whilst they will be sold to purchasers at $1.25 per volume, delivered. This is by far the best contract the state of Ohio has ever been able to make for the printing of its Supreme Court Reports. Under section 437 of the Revised Statutes, the Secretary of State is only authorized to contract for the printing of such reports when authorized by resolution of the General Assembly. The difficulty which will now arise will be this: Volume 46 will probably be completed whilst the sessions of the General Assembly are adjourned. The Secretary of State will then have to wait for authority to make a new contract, until the General Assembly again convenes, and this will cause an undesirable delay in the printing of the reports. For this reason, section 437 of the Revised Statutes should be amended, so as to authorize the Secretary of State to contract for the publication of not exceeding two reports at any time, when the publication of reports before contracted for shall have been completed. Formerly it was customary to let a contract for such publication for the period of two years. But as the end of the two years seldom fell upon the same date with the completion of a volume, it led to trouble with the publishers, and afterward to the plan of contracting for the publication of certain volumes, instead of letting the publishing for a definite period. This last plan is as certain to lead to delays as the one it superseded led to difficulties, and for this reason the resolution referred to in the statute should be dispensed with, and the Secretary of State authorized to make a new contract whenever and just as often as a new contract is needed.

REVISED STATUTES.

On November 15, 1886, there remained in the hands of the Secretary of State 600 copies complete of the Revised Statutes of 1883, including therein eighteen sets returned by members of the Senate at the close of the regular session of the 67th General Assembly, and which they called for again at the beginning of the adjourned session; also, forty-eight sets, original edition, which are imperfect. These last are still in the book-room. Of the 600 copies of the edition of 1883, 110 copies were issued to the members of the House of Representatives at the beginning of the adjourned session of the 67th General Assembly; fifty-five copies were issued to the members of the Senate, the eighteen sets above-mentioned being included, and five sets to the standing committees of the two houses. This leaves 432 sets on hand on November 15, 1887, of the edition of 1883, as well as the forty-eight imperfect sets above referred to.

PRINTING PAPER.

On Monday, September 5, 1887, the contracts were awarded for furnishing paper to the state for the year beginning November 1, 1887.

These contracts were awarded at the lowest rate ever yet secured by the state. The following is a tabulated statement of rates, compared with those of former years, beginning with 1880, the figures given being the number of cents per pound to be paid for each kind of paper :

More paper has been issued this year than last, yet the amount expended for paper has been less. This is due to the reduced rate at which the paper was contracted for. Last year the sum of $39,146.05 was expended and contracted to be paid for paper. This included $6,354.48 for paper ordered and delivered prior to November 15, 1886 but not paid for or accepted, and consequently not issued during the year ending November 15, 1886. Deducting $6,354.48, there remained $32,791.51, the amount properly chargeable to expenditures for paper in 1886. This year, $32,371.73 has been paid out for this purpose, a decrease of $419.78. The amount of paper used in the publication of public documents is enormous. The drop in book paper, the principal paper used, from 13 cents a pound in 1880 to 5.36 cents in 1887, is all that prevents the expenditure for printing paper from being a burden seriously felt by the state.

PUBLICATION OF REPORTS IN GERMAN.

The state of Ohio prints in the German language the reports of the commissioner of labor statistics, of the inspector of shops and factories, of the state board of agriculture and of the secretary of state. By the census of 1880, Ohio had a population of 3,198,062 people, of which 192,597, or nearly one-sixteenth, were German. This German population was not only large, but it was and is an intelligent, reading class, and wishing to place at least some of our state reports before them in a convenient form, our General Assembly provided that the four reports above-named should be printed in the German as well as in the English language. It is made by law the duty of the Secretary of State to determine by inquiry of the members of the General Assembly the number of German reports desired by each, and the aggregate of those desired by them constitutes the number to be printed in German. This duty I have performed for two years, and it is but proper to state, as the result of my observations upon the subject, that there is very little demand among the members of the General Assembly, or among the German citizens of the state for any of the German reports. And not only that, but the printing and translation of the German reports, few though they be, together cost the state more than the large number of English reports printed of the same kind. Not that there is no demand among Germans for the state reports, but simply because, as it seems to me, in almost every instance, the German who can read German can read English also, or desires the report for his children who can read English. Germans are as proud of their race and of their language as the representatives of any other nationality can be. They rather take a pride in knowing that the reports of their adopted state are printed in no foreign language save their own. Yet, as a matter of fact, when one of them calls for a state report, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred he will ask for an English report in preference to one in German. There have not been 100 calls for German reports in this department during the last three years. Nor, to the best of my recollection, has a single citizen of this state sent in a request by mail for any German report during all that time. The Germans who will take them at all will, as a rule, ask for an English copy also. Why this is, I do not attempt to say, farther than as already stated. The facts only in reference to the matter are here set forth. In many of the counties, members of the General Assembly desire no German reports at all. In none of them are more than a few asked for. This applies to all of the reports printed in German, so far as the General Assembly is concerned. In regard to my own office, as stated above, there is very little demand for the Secretary of State's report in German, and that the same is true of the German reports of the inspector of shops and factories, of the commissioner of labor statistics and of the state board of agriculture, the following letters addressed to me by the representatives of those departments in answer to my inquiries upon the subject, conclusively show :

STATE OF OHIO,
OFFICE OF CHIEF INSPECTOR OF WORKSHOPS AND FACTORIES,
COLUMBUS, November 25, 1887.

HON. J. S. ROBINSON, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio—

DEAR SIR: In reply to your note of this date, inquiring as to the demand for German copies of our report, the value of the translation, etc., etc., I will state, that there is very little demand for German copies. The demand for the English report is far in excess of the number allowed by law. Last year, by what authority I do not know, five hundred (500) copies were deducted from the limited number the law says shall be printed for me in English, and the number thus deducted printed in German. The same thing may be done this year, if those having authority to act in this matter do not see to it in time. As to the value of the translation, I understand you to refer in this inquiry to the correctness of the translation. This I know has been, at times, very imperfect and unsatisfactory. A much better way, I am satisfied, would be for the state to employ a translator by the year. Money would be saved by this plan, and the work would be much better performed.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY DORN, Chief.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 26, 1887.

HON. J. S. ROBINSON, Secretary of State:

In reply to yours of the 25th, I will say, that as yet there have been no inquiries at this department for German reports, and in my judgment it is a useless expenditure.

While there is no demand for the German, the demand for the English reports can not be satisfied, as the supply is not sufficient. I would recommend discontinuing the German and increasing the number of English reports. I am, very respectfully,

Yours truly,

A. D. FASSETT,
Commissioner of Labor Statistics.

OHIO STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE,
November 27, 1887.

GEN. J. S. ROBINSON, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio—

MY DEAR SIR: The demand for the German agricultural reports is very light, compared with that for the English. We never have applications for it by mail, and rarely does a German call at the office for one. Formerly, about a thousand were used for foreign exchange, but that has long since been abandoned, because of the great expense and light returns. The German farmers, who are inclined to read such reports, will, I think, be found able to read English.

Yours very truly,

L. N. BONHAM,
Secretary.

Appended hereto is a statement, also, of the relative cost of printing the German and English reports aforesaid, furnished me by the Supervisor of Public Printing. In the cost of printing the German reports the cost of translation is included. In regard to this matter of translation, I desire to call attention to the suggestion made by the chief inspector of shops and factories in his letter set forth above, that the state can save money and insure a better translation by providing for the appointment of a state translator. In regard to the cost, it will be seen from the appended statement that under the present system of printing, it costs the state more for the printing of 2,800 German agricultural reports than it does for 24,000 English; more for printing 1,600 reports of the bureau of labor statistics than it does for 8,300 English; more for 500 German reports of the inspector of shops and factories than it does for 5,000 English; more to print 2,800 Secretary of State's reports in German than it does 19,760 English.

Name of Report.	Number of copies printed.		Cost of printing.
	English.	German.	English.	German.
State Board of Agriculture.....	24,000	2,800	$2,365 50	$2,450 37

Bureau of Labor Statistics.....	8,300	1,600	757 68	1,055 05

STATIONERY.

The amount expended for stationery during the year has been $8,157.90, as compared with $8,672.75 in 1886, a decrease of $514.85. The value of the stationery issued during the year has been $7,860.02, as compared with $8,807.47 in 1886, a decrease of $947.45. The comparative statement of amounts of stationery used by the different departments, printed in the reports for 1885 and 1886, is omitted from this report, as it has been thought that these statements did injustice to some of the departments, owing to the fact that included in the expenditures of such departments, there are in some years unusual items of account, which more properly should be chargeable to the printing fund; or at least, when they do occur, should be chargeable to some other than the stationery fund. Thus, in 1886, the executive department was charged with $309 expended for commission heads; in 1887, $386 are charged against the same department as expended for the same cause, which items of expense had not heretofore been charged to this department. These commission heads are not stationery, more than are the different blanks printed by the state printers. They are lithographed, however, and as the state printers are unable to do lithographing work, the expense of the same has come, by custom, to be charged to stationery account. There is an item of $120 for lithographing blank articles of incorporation, and $70 for a blank index of incorporations in the stationery account of the Secretary of State for the present year, which may not occur again in five years. And in the accounts of some, if not all, of the other departments, items for lithographing also appear, which tend to vary the accounts of these departments in a seemingly unaccountable manner from year to year. In my view of the matter, expenditures for lithographing are more properly chargeable to the printing than to the stationery fund. But in this view, the Auditor of State fails to coincide, and as a result the stationery accounts of some of the departments show a large increase in amount, where the increase, as in the instances above-named, is more properly chargeable to other funds than that of stationery, and where the real amount of stationery used is about the same as in previous years. The stationery fund, in my judgment, should be used only for the purchase of stationery and not for the miscellaneous assortment of things which, by the bad custom and usage of years, has come to be included under the head of "stationery." But should this fund be applied to the purchase of stationery proper, it would be necessary that the printing fund be made the "printing and lithographing fund," and also that a "sundries fund" be created, from which the Secretary of State might purchase the various articles needed for the use of the several departments, or more properly that such purchase be made, when necessary, from the contingent funds of the different departments.

[As the year 1887 is the centennial anniversary of the framing of the Constitution of the United States, and of the passage of the Ordinance of 1787, it has been thought appropriate to herein print those two great instruments.]

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES—1787.

We THE PEOPLE of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this CONSTITUTION for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

*[Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons.] The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

* The clause included in brackets is amended by the 14th amendment, 2d section.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

SECTION 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

SECTION. 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the places of chusing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

SECTION. 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SECTION. 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

SECTION. 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

SECTION. 8. The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all

Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

SECTION. 4. The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION. 1. The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their services, a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

SECTION. 2. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority;—to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls;—to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction;—to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party;—to Controversies between two or more States;—between a State and Citizens of another State;—between Citizens of different States;—between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such Regulations as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

SECTION. 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

["The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like Manner chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote: A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice-President."]

This clause has been superseded by the twelfth amendment.

The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation, or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his services, a Compensation, which shall neither be encreased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that Period any other Emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. ARTICLES IN ADDITION TO, AND AMENDMENT OF, THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, PROPOSED BY CONGRESS, AND RATIFIED BY THE LEGISLATURES OF THE SEVERAL STATES PURSUANT TO THE FIFTH ARTICLE OF THE ORIGINAL CONSTITUTION.

[ARTICLE I.]*

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

[ARTICLE II.]

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

*The first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States were proposed to the legislatures of the several States by the First Congress, on the 25th of September, 1789. ORDINANCE OF 1787.

[THE CONFEDERATE CONGRESS, JULY 13, 1787.]

An Ordinance for the government of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the United States in Congress assembled, That the said territory, for the purpose of temporary government, be one district, subject, however, to be divided into two districts, as future circumstances may, in the opinion of Congress, make it expedient.

SEC. 2. Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the estates both of resident and non-resident proprietors in the said territory, dying intestate, shall descend to, and be distributed among, their children and the descendants of a deceased child in equal parts, the descendants of a deceased child or grandchild to take the share of their deceased parent in equal parts among them; and where there shall be no children or descendants, then in equal parts to the next of kin in equal degree; and among collaterals, the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate shall have, in equal parts among them, their deceased parent's share; and there shall, in no case, be a distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; saving in all cases to the widow of the intestate, her third part of the real estate for life, and one-third part of the personal estate; and this law relative to descents and dower, shall remain in full force until altered by the legislature of the district. And until the governor and judges shall adopt laws as hereinafter mentioned, estates in the said territory may be devised or bequeathed by wills in writing, signed and sealed by him or her in whom the estate may be, (being of full age), and attested by three witnesses; and real estates may be conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale, signed, sealed, and delivered by the person, being of full age, in whom the estate may be, and attested by two witnesses, provided such wills be duly proved, and such conveyances be acknowledged, or the execution thereof duly proved, and be recorded within one year after proper magistrates, courts, and registers, shall be appointed for that purpose; and personal property may be transferred by delivery, saving, however to the French and Canadian inhabitants, and other settlers of the Kaskaskies, Saint Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have heretofore professed themselves citizens of Virginia, their laws and customs now in force among them, relative to the descent and conveyance of property.

SEC. 3. Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That there shall be appointed, from time to time, by Congress, a governor, whose commission shall continue in force for the term of three years, unless sooner revoked by Congress; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein, in one thousand acres of land, while in the exercise of his office.

establishment of States, and permanent government therein, and for their admission to a share in the Federal councils on an equal footing with the original States, at as early periods as may be consistent with the general interest:

SEC. 14. It is hereby ordained and declared, by the authority aforesaid, that the following articles shall be considered as articles of compact, between the original States and the people and States in the said territory, and forever remain unalterable, unless by common consent, to wit:

ARTICLE I.

No person, demeaning himself in a peaceable and orderly manner, shall ever be molested on account of his mode of worship, or religious sentiments, in the said territory.

ARTICLE II.

The inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to the benefits of the writs of habeas corpus, and of the trial by jury; of a proportionate representation of the people in the legislature, and of judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law. All persons shall be bailable, unless for capital offences, where the proof shall be evident, or the presumption great. All fines shall be moderate; and no cruel or unusual punishments shall be inflicted. No man shall be deprived of his liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land, and should the public exigencies make it necessary, for the common preservation, to take any person's property, or to demand his particular services, full compensation shall be made for the same. And, in the just preservation of rights and property, it is understood and declared, that no law ought ever to be made or have force in the said territory, that shall, in any manner whatever, interfere with or affect private contracts, or engagements, bona fide, and without fraud previously formed.

ARTICLE III.

Religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged. The utmost good faith shall always be observed towards the Indians; their lands and property shall never be taken from them without their consent; and in their property, rights, and liberty they never shall be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars authorized by Congress; but laws founded in justice and humanity shall, from time to time, be made, for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them.

ARTICLE IV.

The said territory, and the States which may be formed therein, shall forever remain a part of this confederacy of the United States of America, subject to the Articles of Confederation, and to such alterations therein as shall be constitutionally made; and to all the acts and ordinances of the United States in Congress assembled, conformable thereto. The inhabitants and settlers in the said territory shall be subject to pay a part of the Federal debts, contracted, or to be contracted, and a proportional part of the expenses of government to be apportioned on them by Congress, according to the same common rule and measure by which apportionments thereof shall be made on the other States; and the taxes for paying their proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the district, or districts, or new States, as in the original States, within the time agreed upon by the United States in Congress assembled. The legislatures of those districts, or new States, shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by the United States in Congress assembled, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona-fide purchasers. No tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. The navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and Saint Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said territory as to the citizens of the United States, and those of any other States that may be admitted into the confederacy, without any tax, impost, or duty therefor.

ARTICLE V.

There shall be formed in the said territory not less than three nor more than five States; and the boundaries of the States, as soon as Virginia shall alter her act of cession and consent to the same, shall become fixed and established as follows, to wit: The western State, in the said territory, shall be bounded by the Mississippi, the Ohio, and the Wabash Rivers; a direct line drawn from the Wabash and Post Vincents, due north, to the territorial line between the United States and Canada; and by the said territorial line to the Lake of the Woods and Mississippi. The middle State shall be bounded by the said direct line, the Wabash from Post Vincents to the Ohio, by the Ohio, by a direct line drawn due north from the mouth of the Great Miami to the said territorial line, and by the said territorial line. The eastern State shall be bounded by the last-mentioned direct line, the Ohio, the Pennsylvania, and the said territorial line: Provided, however, And it is further understood and declared, that the boundaries of these three States shall be subject so far to be altered, that, if Congress shall hereafter find it expedient, they shall have authority to form one or two States in that part of the said territory which lies north of an east and west line drawn through the southerly bend or extreme of Lake Michigan. And whenever any of the said States shall have sixty thousand free inhabitants therein, such State shall be admitted, by its delegates, into the Congress of the United States, on an equal footing with the original States, in all respects whatever; and shall be at liberty to form a permanent constitution and State government: Provided, The constitution and government, so to be formed, shall be republican, and in conformity to the principles contained in these articles, and, so far as it can be consistent with the general interest of the confederacy, such admission shall be allowed at an earlier period, and when there may be a less number of free inhabitants in the State than sixty thousand.

ARTICLE VI.

There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the

² Secretary of the Territory, and was acting governor of the Territory after the removal of Governor St. Clair.

³ Resigned March 3, 1807, to accept the office of United States Senator.

⁴ Return Jonathan Meigs was elected governor on the second Tuesday of October, 1807, over Nathaniel Massie, who contested the election of Meigs on the ground "that he had not been a resident of this State for four years next preceding the election as required by the Constitution," and the General Assembly, in joint convention, decided that he was not eligible. The office was not given to Massie, nor does it appear from the records that he claimed it, but Thomas Kirker, acting governor, continued to discharge the duties of the office until December 12, 1808, when Samuel Huntington was inaugurated, he having been elected on the second Tuesday of October in that year.

⁵ Resigned March 25, 1814, to accept the office of Postmaster-General of the United States.

⁶ Resigned January 4, 1822, to accept the office of United States Senator.

⁷ Resigned April 13, 1844, to accept the office of Minister to Mexico.

⁸ The result of the election in 1848 was not finally determined in joint convention of the two houses of the General Assembly until January 19, 1849, and the inauguration did not take place until the 22d of that month.

⁹ Resigned July 15, 1853, to accept the office of Consul to Valparaiso.

¹⁰ Elected in October, 1853, for the regular term, to commence on the second Monday of January, 1854.

¹¹ Died August 29, 1865.

¹² Resigned March 2, 1877, to accept the office of President of the United States.

¹ David L. Meeker, of Greenville, elected his successor for a term of five years, beginning May 14, 1888.

² Isaac P. Pugsley, of Toledo, elected his successor for the term of five years, beginning November 4, 1888.

³ Section 2 of the act of March 26, 1883 (80 Ohio Laws, 76), authorizing the election of an additional Common Pleas Judge in the first subdivision of the fifth judicial district, provided that vacancies in the office of such judge "shall be filled as in vacancies in the office of the other judges of said court, and all elections therefor shall be held on the second Tuesday of October next preceding the expiration of his term of office." Under this section no election was held to elect a successor to succeed Judge Cowen on the second Tuesday of October, 1887. But at the general election held in November, 1887, the electors of the first subdivision of the fifth judicial district voted for such successor, and of the votes cast, Frank Davis, of New Richmond, received a majority.

² The matter is in dispute as to whether the term of this Judge will expire on the first day of February or first day of May, 1888. Attorney-Generals Isaiah Pillars and George K. Nash are said to have given conflicting opinions in regard to it, and the question is now again before the Attorney-General for his opinion. Judge John H. Ridgely, of Tiffin, was elected November 8, 1887, for a term of five years, to succeed Judge Dodge, on whichever one of the dates herein first above-named is finally agreed upon as the correct one for the expiration of the latter's term.

STATE ELECTION OF 1888.

The next State election will be held on Tuesday, November 6, 1888. At this time there will be elected a Secretary of State, Judge of Supreme Court, Member of the Board of Public Works, Representatives to Congress, Judges of the Circuit and Common Pleas Courts, and county officers.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 1888.*

The next Presidential election will take place on Tuesday, November 6, of the present year.

The nominating conventions of two of the political parties have already (January 1, 1888) been called. The National Convention of the Prohibition party will meet at Indianapolis, Ind., on Wednesday, June 6, and the Republican National Convention will meet at Chicago, Ill., on Tuesday, June 19.

The President and Vice-President of the United States are chosen by officials termed "Electors" in each State, who are, under existing State laws, chosen by the qualified voters thereof by ballot, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November in every fourth year preceding the year in which the Presidential term expires.

The Constitution of the United States prescribes that each State shall "appoint," in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be an elector. The Constitution requires that the day when electors are chosen shall be the same throughout the United States. At the beginning of our Government most of the electors were chosen by the Legislatures of their respective States, the people having no direct participation in their choice; and one State, South Carolina, continued that practice down to the breaking out of the Civil War. But in all the States now the Presidential electors are, under the direction of State laws, chosen by the people.

The manner in which the chosen electors meet and ballot for a President and Vice-President of the United States is provided for in Article XII, of the Constitution, and is as follows:

The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate.

The same article then prescribes the mode in which the Congress shall count the ballots of the electors, and announce the result thereof, which is as follows:

The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

The procedure of the two houses, in case the returns of the election of electors from any State are disputed, is provided in the "Electoral Count" act, passed by the Forty-ninth Congress.

The Constitution also defines who is eligible for President of the United States, as follows:

No person except a natural-born citizen or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of 35 years.

The qualifications for Vice-President are the same.

The "Electoral Count" act directs that the Presidential electors shall meet and give their votes on the second Monday in January next following their election. It fixes the time when Congress shall be in session to count the ballots as the second Wednesday in February succeeding the meeting of the electors.

The Presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the Forty-ninth Congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation, or inability of both the President and Vice-President, then the Secretary of State shall act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed or a President is elected. If there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury will act; and the remainder of the order of succession is: The Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy, and Secretary of the Interior. The acting President must, upon taking office, convene Congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice.

¹ Previous to the election of 1804 each elector voted for two candidates for President; the one receiving the highest number of votes, if a majority, was declared elected President; and the next highest Vice-President.

² Three States out of thirteen did not vote, viz., New York, which had not passed an electoral law; and North Carolina and Rhode Island, which had not adopted the Constitution.

There were re-valuations of real property of the State for the years 1826, 1836, 1841, 1847, 1854, 1861, 1871 and 1881.

NOTE.—Prior to 1826, real estate only was brought upon the duplicates for taxation for State purposes. Funds for county purposes were derived from a poll-tax, and a tax upon horses, mules and cattle, to which was added, by legislative appropriation, a percentage from one-fifth to one-half, varying with the several years, from the taxes levied upon real estate.

Under the act of February 3, 1825, which took effect March 1, 1826, all taxable property was placed upon the grand duplicate, viz., lands and town lots, including buildings, horses, cattle, pleasure carriages, over the value of one hundred dollars, and merchants' and brokers' capital, to which was added, "money loaned at interest," and "all grist, oil and saw-mills; all manufactories of iron, glass, paper, clocks and nails; all distilleries, breweries and tanneries; all iron, brass and copper foundries," under the act of March 14, 1831.

Under the act of March 2, 1846, a new system of taxation was inaugurated, which with various slight modifications, is now in force.

The total does not include the per capita tax on dogs, which amounted in 1887 to $202,772.

Bark and roots medicinal.

3. MAGNOLIA ACUMINATA. Linnaeus. Cucumber Tree, Mountain Laurel, Mountain Magnolia. "This tree is found rather abundantly in the southeastern half of the State, and in the coal measures, but may be cultivated on the limestone soils. Its large heart-shaped leaves make it ornamental, and the pods, from the split cells of which the crimson seeds protrude and are suspended by a slender thread, render this tree attractive."—(Dr. Warder.) It grows straight and reaches its greatest development on the slopes of the Southern Allegheny mountains, where it attains a height of 60 to 80 feet, and 4 to 5 feet in diameter.

Wood durable, light, soft, not strong, close-grained, satiny; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, yellow-brown, the sap-wood lighter, often nearly white; specific gravity, 0.4690; ash, 0.29; used for pump logs, water-troughs, flooring, cabinet making, etc.

This is one of our grandest forest-trees, sometimes attaining a height of 140 feet, and a diameter of nine feet. The foliage is handsome, the flowers tulip-form and richly colored. Cultivated in the open spaces of a park the trees assume a beautiful form, regularly conical. In the forest it attains great age, weathering centuries, where it has its highest value for lumber that is applied to many uses. The boards have the reputation of possessing unusual resonance, and have been used to line the great music hall of Cincinnati. Formerly it was much used for the finishing of houses, before the railroads and canals furnished transportation for the white pine lumber."

Wood light, soft, not strong, brittle, very close straight-grained, compact, easily worked; medullary rays numerous, not prominent; color, light-yellow or brown, the thin sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.4280; ash, 0.23; largely manufactured into lumber, and used for construction, interior finish, shingles, in boat-building, and especially in the manufacture of wooden pumps, wooden ware, etc. Varieties varying slightly in color and density are recognized by lumbermen.

The inner bark, especially of the root, is medicinal.

TILIACEAE. (Linden Family).

9. TILIA AMERICANA. Linnaeus. Linden, Basswood, Lime tree, Whitewood. Generally distributed over the State; a favorite for pasture, and fine shade tree for park or street. "It is," says Dr. Warder,* "a handsome tree, of fine form, beautiful foliage, and abundant bloom, that furnishes delicious honey, and is, therefore, a favorite with the bee-master." * * * "The Linden should be planted in your home groves; and to a limited extent in the forest plantation also."

This tree grows rapidly, and attains a height of 80 feet, and a diameter of 2 to 3 feet, and is always an indicator of rich soil.

The fruit, a water-like seed, grows in clusters, is a bitter tonic, and has been used as a substitute for hops, hence the name hop-tree. (Vasey).

Bark of the root medicinal. (Griffith).

14. AILANTHUS GLANDULOSA. Desfontaines. Tree of Heaven. "This rapidly growing tree from Eastern Asia, brought from China to Philadelphia in 1784, has been rapidly spread over the country. In Southern Ohio it has escaped from cultivation, and is thoroughly naturalized, increasing and extending by suckers and seeds. The male flowers have a disagreeable odor, which unfits it for street planting. This is not the case with the fruit-bearing tree, which is quite ornamental with its tinted samara. The wood furnishes good fuel (equal to hickory, says J. M. McCullough). It has a waxy, is close and fine-grained, making good furniture." (Dr. Warder).

"The Ailanthus is a large tree, sometimes four feet in diameter. It produces hard, close-grained, heavy wood, supplying valuable material for the cabinet-maker, and fuel of better quality than the White Oak. The Ailanthus is readily propagated, and grows with a greater rapidity in a greater variety of soil and climate than any tree of North America. It is of first-rate economic importance."—(C. S. Sargent).

In the center runs a broad avenue for foot passengers, and on each side are carriage and foot-paths. It extends from the Royal Palace to the Brandenburg Gate, at the entrance of the Thiergarten, and the avenue of Charlottenburg. Nearly equally beautiful is the avenue of Linden, from the city of Hanover to the Castle Herrenhausen (Herrenhausen Allee). This tree, the Linn, gave the family name to Linnaeus.

Maple sugar is principally made from this species.

The ashes of the wood, rich in Alkali, yield large quantities of potash.

24. ACER NIGRUM. Michaux. Black Sugar Maple. This tree, which is very abundant in Southern Ohio, is considered by Torrey & Gray, merely a variety of Acer saccharinum, Wangenheim. Lumbermen, however, recognize a very great difference, a fact well deserving the consideration of the practical forester.

Wood is darker and heavier than that of A. saccharinum; specific gravity, 0.6915; ash, 0.71; used as that of the former.

25. ACER DASYCARPUM. Ehrhardt. Soft Maple, White Maple, Silver Maple. Widely distributed, especially along streams. This species is easily propagated, and grows rapidly while young; hence, a favorite with nurserymen, and largely planted in the streets and highways, though a very inferior tree to the sugar maples. The limbs are easily broken by storms. The foliage is never so fine either in summer or in the autumn.—(Dr. Warder). A large tree, 60 to 120 feet high, trunk 3 to 6 feet in diameter, preferring rich soil.

Wood light, hard, strong, brittle, close-grained, compact, easily worked; medullary rays numerous, thin; specific gravity, 0.5269; ash, 0.33; somewhat used in the manufacture of cheap furniture, for flooring, etc. Maple sugar is occasionally made from this species.

This tree is found throughout the state, especially on wet lands near swamps, though also found on hills and among rocks. "Its neat, compact form, with moderate size, adapt it especially for a street tree in village improvement service, where its gay and brilliant autumnal tints make it a universal favorite. This tree sometimes attains fair proportions, and under peculiar conditions the timber presents the irregularities of grain, known as curled and birds-eye."—Dr. Warder.* It attains a height of 60 to 120 feet, with a trunk 3 to 5 feet in diameter.

27. ACER PSEUDO-PLATANUS. Linnaeus. European Sycamore Maple, Mountain Maple. This handsome tree was introduced from Europe, and has been planted successfully in Ohio. It is of rapid, upright growth, with large foliage and smooth, ash-gray colored bark, demanding good fresh† or moist‡ soil, but does not thrive in wet, sandy and dry soil; it courts limestone soil, and grows best in the plains and on northern slopes of hills and mountains. It matures at an age of 120 to 160 years, but reaches an age of 200 years. Height, 80 to 100 feet, and diameter of trunk, 3 to 4 feet, and sometimes more. When young this, like all other maples, is very susceptible of injury by cattle. Wood used for the same purposes as that of the American species and is much prized for fuel; its specific gravity is like that of the beech.

28. ACER PLATANOIDES. Linnaeus. Norway Maple. This is a beautiful round-headed tree of medium size, well adapted for streets and park avenues. It is "the glory of Euclid avenue in Cleveland." It attains a height of about 30 feet, with a trunk 8 to 12 inches in diameter; grows well on fresh soil, and will thrive even on wet soil, but not on dry and poor soil. In Germany it is highly valued in coppice forests, sprouting readily from stumps and roots. It furnishes an excellent wood, which is very hard, easily worked, and used in cabinet making, carving and turnery. As fuel it surpasses beech.

*"There is a Western form (perhaps a species) of this plant, which prevails along the tributaries of the Missouri, reaching high latitudes in the Northwest, which is very superior to our tree. This has been introduced by the nurserymen, and is somewhat planted in Ohio, but more extensively in the streets of Washington, D. C., than elsewhere." Dr. Warder in "Woody Plants of Ohio." Also, compare Dr. Warder on "Forest trees, adapted to Northern Illinois," ch. p. 10.

When exposed it assumes a handsome, regular, conical form, the branches horizontal or depending with layers of bright, shining, deep green leaves that change to brilliant crimson. This change often begins with a spray or single branch at midsummer, long before the access of frost.

"This tree should be more used in landscape planting. In clearing an old wood preserve the gums. If they have naked shafts their beauty may be restored in a few years by cutting off the tops severely. This tree is well named—the Nymph of the Woods."

This tree attains a height of 80 to 80 feet, with a trunk of 1 to 8 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, rather soft, strong, very tough, unwedgeable, difficult to work, inclined to check unless carefully seasoned, not durable in contact with the soil, containing numerous regularly distributed small open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, light-yellow, or often nearly white, the sap-wood hardly distinguishable; specific gravity, 0.6353; ash, 0.52; largely used for the hubs of wheels, rollers in glass-factories, ox-yokes, hatters' blocks, etc.

This tree differs very greatly in size, while in the northern limits it attains a height of but about 20 feet; it occasionally measures 60 in the South; its greatest height in Ohio is about 40 feet, with a trunk of from 8 to 15 inches in diameter. Of this tree Dr. Warder says in his "Woody plants of Ohio:" "Central and Southern Ohio. Common, growing 30 feet high and some inches in diameter. Foliage smooth and handsome. Flowers heath-like and fragrant, followed by a berry fruit, very astringent until fully ripe, when it becomes sweet and luscious. Matures on different trees from September to December. It also varies greatly in form, size, color and quality. Should be improved by selection of seedling from the best."

OLEACEAE. (Olive Family).

62. FRAXINUS AMERICANA. Linnaeus. White Ash. One of the most valuable trees, generally distributed, preferring low, rich, moist soil; attaining a height of from 70 to 100 feet, with a trunk 3 to 6 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, ultimately brittle, coarse-grained, compact, layers of annual growth clearly marked by several rows of large open ducts, occupying, in slowly-grown specimens, nearly the entire width of the annual rings; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, brown, the sap-wood much lighter, often nearly white; specific gravity, 0.6543; ash, 0.42; specific gravity of the heavier sap-wood, 0.7180; largely used in the manufacture of agricultural implements, carriages, handles, oars, in house building and cabinet work. In consideration of the great value of the wood of this tree, Dr. J. A. Warder suggested that Ohio might emulate Massachusetts in offering premiums for its successful cultivation.

There is no doubt but that the raising of this tree, on a large scale, would be a paying enterprise.

63. FRAXINUS PUBESCENS. Lamark. Red Ash. Less widely distributed. Found in Summit county (Newb.); it prefers, like the white ash, low, rich, moist, soil; reaches a height of about 70 feet, with a trunk 1 to 2 feet in diameter.

64. FRAXINUS VIRIDIS. Michaux. Fraxinus juglandifolia, Lamark. Green Ash. "Generally distributed, but often overlooked. Found usually in low grounds and near streams. This tree does not reach the noble proportions of the White Ash, but its clean foliage and smaller size adapt it to the streets of towns and to roadside planting. It is easy to propagate and grows rapidly."—(Dr. Warder). It attains a height of 30 to 40 feet, with a trunk of 1 to 2 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, brittle, rather coarse-grained, compact, satiny, containing numerous scattered small open ducts, the layers of annual growth marked by several rows of large ducts; medullary rays numerous, small, obscure; color, brown, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.7117; ash, 0.65; inferior in quality, although often used as a substitute for white ash.

65. FRAXINUS QUADRANGULATA. Michaux. Blue Ash. This tree occurs more frequently in Southwestern Ohio than in other portions of the State; attains a height of 60 to 90 feet, with a trunk of 1 to 2 feet in diameter; its favorite localities are limestone hills, rarely found in the bottoms.

"The lumber of this species," says Dr. John A. Warder, "is not distinguished from that of the White Ash, though generally called Gray Ash by the woodmen, who claim that it is brash, and has less strength than the other species. It is believed, however, that this condition depends rather upon the age of the plant, and to be found in old trees of either kind."*

66. FRAXINUS SAMBUCIFOLIA. Lamark. Black Ash, Swamp Ash, Hoop Ash, Ground Ash. Common in swamps, on low river banks and wet lands; attains a height of 60 to 80 feet, trunk 1 to 2 feet in diameter.

The Indians are said to have used the saplings of this tree for making brooms.

67. FRAXINUS EXCELSIOR. Linnaeus. Common Ash. Introduced from Europe. A tree 60 to 100 feet high, with about 2 feet in diameter, has been much planted in streets and parks, and though highly esteemed in Europe for its excellent timber, and its bark for tanning, it is in no way superior to our native species. Some of its varieties are very ornamental, the most remarkable of which are probably the varieties aurea (Golden Barked Ash) and aurea pendula (Golden Barked Weeping Ash); both are particularly conspicuous in winter on account of the color of the bark, which is as yellow as gold. Another noteworthy variety of this species is the Fraxinus excelsior pendula, which is one of the finest lawn and arbor trees. All of these are cultivated in this country, but are rare in Ohio.

68. CHIONANTHUS VIRGINICA. Linnaeus. Fringe tree, Old Man's beard. Indigenous in southern Ohio, but cultivated in all parts of the State. A small tree, 15 to 30 feet in height, with a trunk 6 to 8 inches in diameter.

Harrison, and is now nearly naturalized where planted in southwestern Ohio. This tree is more erect than the preceding, the timber equally durable, and the plant, much more hardy, may be set out in any part of the State."—(Dr. J. A. Warder.) A grove of this species was planted on the grounds of the Forest Academy of Tharant, Saxony, April 27, 1882, in honor of the first Arbor Day in Ohio, and is called the Cincinnati Grove.

SASSAFRAS OFFICINALE. Nees v. Esenbeck. Laurus Sassafras, Linnaeus Sassafras. "The tree," says Dr. J. A. Warder, "is widely distributed, especially on light, sandy and gravelly soils, rather dry than wet. The foliage is variable. The growth is rapid. Young shoots retain the green bark, which, and especially the roots, are highly aromatic, owing to the presence of a substance resembling camphor. In the prairies and barrens of Ohio the tree is generally small, because they were destroyed by fires in the early settlement of the country. A large tree in Warren county has been recently measured by Mr. W. Bean, with the following results: Circumference of trunk, 1 foot from the ground, 10 feet 2 inches; at 6 feet, 7 feet 3 inches; height, 50 feet."

Generally it attains a height of from 40 to 50 feet, with a trunk 2 to 3 feet in diameter.

Wood light, soft, not strong, brittle, close-grained, very durable in contact with the soil, slightly aromatic, checking in drying; layers of annual growth clearly marked with three or four rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, dull orange brown, the thin sap-wood light-yellow; specific gravity, 0.5052; ash, 0.10; used for light skiffs, ox-yokes, etc., and largely for fence-posts and rails, and in cooperage.

The roots, and especially its bark, furnish a powerful aromatic stimulant; from it the oil of sassafras is distilled. The leaves and pith of shoots, being mucilaginous, are used in domestic medicine, and, in cooking, contributes to the excellence of Southern Gumbo.

73. ULMUS AMERICANA. Linnaeus. White Elm, American Elm, Water Elm. This magnificent tree is found in all parts of the State on wet flats, is "large and umbrageous and well adapted for grand avenues, but too great for crowded streets in towns. Mr. Micheaux called this the grandest vegetable in America, but the early pioneers did not esteem it highly because they could not split the logs, and, when sawed, the lumber would spring and was prone to decay; hence, the trees were girdled and left to decay."—(Dr. J. A. Warder.)

A large tree, attaining a height of from 90 to 110 feet, with a trunk of from 5 to 8 feet in diameter; thrives best on rich, moist soil.*

Wood heavy, hard, strong, tough, rather coarse-grained, compact, difficult to split; layers of annual growth clearly marked by several rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, light-brown, the sap-wood somewhat lighter; specific gravity, 0.6506; ash, 0.80. Largely used in the manufacture of heavy agricultural implements, wheel stock, and for railway ties, bridge timbers, sills, etc. "It closely resembles the white elm, but may be distinguished by the corky wings of the smaller branches, which cause them to look grotesque and rough."—(Dr. Geo. Vasey.)

ULMUS ALATA. Micheaux. Wahoo, Winged Elm. Southern, occasionally seen in cultivation; prefers dry gravelly soil. A small tree, reaching a height of from 30 to 40 feet, and a diameter of 1 to 2 feet.

Though generally a small tree, it, at times, attains a height of 60 to 70 feet, with a trunk of from 3 to 4 feet in diameter. Its favorite localities are rich bottom lands. Of this tree Dr. W. B. Lapham says†: "It is a beautiful tree and should be more generally grown where it will do well for ornamental purposes."

Wood light, soft, not strong, rather tough, coarse-grained, compact, very durable in contact with the soil, satiny, susceptible of a good polish; layers of annual growth clearly marked by several rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, light orange-yellow; the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.5898; ash, 0.71; largely used in fencing, cooperage, for snaths, etc.

† Farm and Hearth, January, 1866, p. 1, article "Mulberry Culture."

79. MORUS NIGRA. Linnaeus. Black Mulberry, European Mulberry. A native of Southern Asia; was, at an early time, brought to Europe, and from thence introduced into this country, where it is cultivated. It is occasionally seen in cultivation in Ohio. It reaches a height of about 30 feet, with a trunk about 1 foot in diameter. A fine spreading tree with coriaceous, or ovate, or three-lobed leaves, and fertile oval spikes. The fruit, which is dark-red or blackish and of an aromatic acid flavor is, in the old country, eaten either raw or cooked as preservee. The juice is very extensively used for coloring wines, or boiled into a syrup. When mixed with apple-juice it makes what is known as mulberry wine or mulberry cider.

The mulberry may be grown from seed or from cuttings like the willow*.

80. MACLURA AURANTIACA. Nuttall. Osage Orange, Bois D'Ark. A southwestern tree, planted in Ohio chiefly for hedging. It is thought that it reaches its greatest development along the valley of the Red River in the Indian territory, where it attains a height of 50 to 60 feet, with a trunk of about 2 feet in diameter.

"In open grounds," says Dr. John A. Warder, "it forms an umbrageous tree of beautiful massive form, with a spread of 100 feet, and rising as a majestic, but not formal cone, to a height of equal extent, as may be seen at Spring Grove Cemetery." "It is," says Prof. S. C. Sargent, "the largest tree of the Atlantic forests;" attains, sometimes, a height of from 100 to 120 feet, with a trunk of 6 to 12 feet in diameter; unfortunately, the large specimens are generally hollow.

Wood heavy, hard, not strong, very close-grained, compact, difficult to split and work; layers of annual growth clearly marked by broad bands of small ducts; the numerous medullary rays very conspicuous; color, brown tinged with red, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.5678; ash, 0.46; largely used for tobacco boxes, ox-yokes, butchers' blocks. "The timber has," says Dr. Warder, "been applied to the manufacture of cheap furniture, and, more recently, it is cut into thin boards, stained and stamped to imitate mahogany."

JUGLANDACEAE. (Walnut Family.)

82. JUGLANS CINEREA. Linnaeus. Butternut and White Walnut. This tree is generally distributed throughout the State, but grows best in the northern part; attains a height of from 60 to 100 feet, with a trunk of 2 to 3 feet in diameter.

Wood light, soft, not strong, rather coarse-grained, compact, easily worked, satiny, susceptible of a beautiful polish, containing numerous regularly-distributed, large, open ducts; medullary rays distant, thin, obscure; color, bright light-brown, turning dark with exposure, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.4086; ash, 0.51; largely used for interior finish, cabinet work, etc.

The inner bark, especially that of the root, is used as a mild cathartic, and furnishes a yellow dye.

83. JUGLANS NIGRA. Linnaeus. Found in all parts of the State on the richest, deep soils. Commercially speaking, this is one of the most valuable forest trees of the State and of the country; it attains a height of 100 to 120 feet (sometimes more), with a trunk of 6 to 10 feet in diameter; now very scarce everywhere, and practically extinct in some parts of the country, where formerly it abounded.

* There is another variety, Morus Tartarica (?), or the Russian Mulberry, which is highly recommended by nurserymen. It was introduced into this country by Russian emigrants; is easily propagated and lauded as a tree for the prairies. "It has been planted in Ohio."—(Dr. Warder.)

† A portion of the streets of St. Louis was paved with blocks of the Osage Orange.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, rather coarse-grained, liable to check if not carefully seasoned, easily worked, susceptible of a beautiful polish, durable in contact with the soil, containing numerous large, regularly-distributed open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin, not conspicuous; color, rich dark-brown, the thin sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.6115; ash, 0.79; more generally used in cabinet making, interior finish, and for gun-stocks than that of any other North American tree.

84. CARYA OLIVAEFORMIS. Nuttall. Pecan nut, Pecan, Illinois nuts. A tree of the southwest, but cultivated in Ohio.—(Dr. John A. Warder). A large tree from 100 to 150 feet high, with a trunk of 3 to 6 feet in diameter, favoring borders of streams and low, rich soil.

Wood heavy, hard, not strong, brittle, close-grained, compact; layers of annual growth marked by one or two rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, light-brown, tinged with red, the sap-wood lighter brown; specific gravity, 0.7180; ash, 1.13; not much used except for fuel.

The nuts are collected in great quantities, affording an important article of commerce.

85. CARYA ALBA. Nuttall. Shell-bark Hickory. Shag-bark Hickory. This fine species is generally distributed, but abounds on flat lands, as in Central Ohio.—(Dr. John A. Warder). It grows to a height of 80 to 100 feet (occasionally larger trees are found), and has a trunk of 3 to 4 feet in diameter, on rich hill sides and sandy ridges.

Wood heavy, very hard and strong, tough, close-grained, compact, flexible; layers of annual growth clearly marked with one to three rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin; color, brown, the thin and more valuable sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.8372; ash, 0.73; much esteemed in carriage making and in the manufacture of agricultural implements, ax-handles, baskets, and for other mechanical purposes. Considered superior to all other wood for fuel.—(Wood). Hickory planks are largely exported to Europe for gun carriages.—(Warder).

The outer bark separates in long strips, hence the name shell-bark hickory; the bark is useful in tanning, and used in medicine. Fruit edible.

86. CARYA SULCATA. Nuttall. Big Shell-bark, Bottom Shell-bark, Thick Shell-bark. Generally distributed, but develops best on rich lands near rivers, where it attains a height of 80 to 100 feet, with a trunk of 2 to 4 feet in diameter. It closely resembles Carya alba. The bark is divided into long strips.

Wood heavy, very hard, strong, and tough, very close-grained, compact, flexible; layers of annual growth marked by one or two rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, dark-brown, the sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.8108; ash, 0.90; used for the same purposes as that of Shell-bark Hickory.

Nuts with a very thick, four-parted pericarp and nearly twice as large as those of Carya alba; are sweet and edible.

87. CARYA TOMENTOSA. Nuttall. Juglans alba. Linnaeus. Mockernut, White-heart Hickory, King Nut, Black Hickory, Bull Nut. Less common. A fine tree, attaining a height of 60 to 90 feet, with a trunk of three to four feet in diameter; generally on rich upland hillsides.

Wood heavy, very hard, strong, tough, very close-grained, checking in drying, flexible, containing few large, regularly distributed open ducts; medullary rays numerous, thin, obscure; color, rich dark brown, the thick sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.8216; ash, 1.06; used for the same purposes as that of the Shell-bark Hickory.

"The nuts are large and hard to crack, having a thick woody shell."—(Dr. J. A. Warder).

88. CARYA PORCINA. Nuttall. Pig-nut Hickory, Black Hickory, Brown Hickory. On dry hills and uplands, common. Height, 60 to 80 feet (sometimes more); diameter of trunk, three to four feet and more.

Wood heavy, hard, very strong and tough, flexible, close-grained, checking in drying, containing many large, open ducts; color, dark or light brown, the thick sap-wood lighter, often nearly white; specific gravity, 0.8217; ash, 0.99; used for the same purpose as that of the other hickories, but preferred wherever great strength is required; an excellent fuel.

89. CARYA AMARA. Nuttall. Bitter Nut, Swamp Hickory, Brown Hickory. Generally distributed; a large tree on the Ohio river hills.—(Dr. J. A. Warder). It reaches a height of 50 to 80 feet, with a trunk of two to three feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, very hard, strong, tough, close grained, checking in drying, layers of annual growth marked by several rows of large, open ducts; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, dark brown, the sap-wood light brown, or often nearly white; specific gravity, 0.7552; ash, 1.03; largely used for hoops, ox-yokes, etc. The drupe has a thin shell, easily broken, and the kernel is so bitter that animals will hardly touch it.

"This tree may be distinguished by the prominent yellowish buds on the twigs."—(Warder).

90. CARYA MICROCARPA. Nuttall.^{*} Small-fruited Hickory. "A large tree growing on moist lands. Fruit small."—(Darlington). "Found in Northern Ohio."—(B). (Quoted by Dr. J. A. Warder).

CUPULIFERAE. (Oak Family.)

91. QUERCUS ALBA. Linnaeus. White Oak. A large and very valuable tree; generally distributed, but preferring light soils on clay; attains a height of 100 to 140 feet (sometimes even more), with a diameter of 4 to 6 feet.

Wood strong, very heavy, hard, tough, close-grained, liable to check unless carefully seasoned, durable in contact with the soil; layers of annual growth strongly marked by several rows of large, open ducts; medullary rays broad, prominent; color, brown, the sap-wood lighter brown; specific gravity, 0.7470; ash, 0.41; largely used in ship building,[†] construction of all sorts, cooperage, in the manufacture of carriages, agricultural implements and baskets, and for railway ties, fencing, interior finish, cabinet-making, etc., and fuel.

Bark used for tanning purposes; a decoction of the inner bark is used in medicine.

92. QUERCUS OBTUSILOBA. Micheaux. Post Oak, Iron Oak, Turkey Oak. "Is a smaller tree as we see it in Ohio, and much less widely distributed. It prefers a light soil, and grows well even on poor lands. The wood is valuable, preferred for some purposes even to the White Oak. It grows slowly while young."—(Dr. John A. Warder). It attains a height of 60 to 80 feet, with a trunk of 3 to 4 feet in diameter.[‡]

Wood heavy, hard, close-grained, compact, checking badly in drying, very durable in contact with the soil; layers of annual growth marked by one to three rows of not large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, conspicuous; color, dark or light brown, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.8367; ash, 0.79; used for fencing, railway ties, and fuel, and somewhat for carriage stock, cooperage, construction, etc.

93. QUERCUS MACROCARPA. Micheaux. Burr Oak, Mossy-cup Oak. Generally distributed, especially on strong soils resting on clay.—(Dr. J. A. Warder). Attains a height of from 60 to 70 feet, with a trunk 4 to 7 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, strong, hard, tough, close-grained, compact, more durable in contact with the soil than of other American Oaks; layers of annual growth marked by one to three rows of small open ducts; medullary rays often broad and conspicuous; color, dark, or rich light brown, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.7453; ash, 0.71. Generally confounded with the less valuable White Oak (Q. alba), and employed for the same purposes. ||

94. QUERCUS LYRATA. Walter. Over-cup Oak, Swamp Post Oak, Water White Oak. "A southern form, hardly to be found in Ohio, except where cultivated. The foliage is remarkably lobed, color very rich, with tints of crimson, particularly on the under side. The acorn is almost entirely concealed with the cup, which has larger scales and no moss."—(Dr. J. A. Warder).

A tree of from 70 to 80 feet high, with a trunk of from 2 to 3 feet in diameter; found on deep, often submerged river swamps.

^{*}In the U. S. census report for 1880, this tree is classed as a variety of carya alba. Wood and also Gray enumerate it as a species.

[†]Large quantities of White Oak plants have been exported from Eastern and Northern Ohio to England for ship building purposes and for staves. This exportation, and the demand upon this wood for railway ties, have nearly extinguished this tree in portions of our State.

[‡]This, of course, is the extreme height and thickness; the average height is about 50 feet, and the average diameter about 15 to 18 inches.

The tree is widely spreading, and has very crooked branches. The bark is grayish white. The acorns are very sweet. The wood, which has the general appearance of that of Quercus alba, is, by mechanics, often called White Oak.

||There are quite a number of varieties of this Oak, seven of which are described by Mr. Hampton in Dr. Warder's Woody Plants of Ohio.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, tough, very durable in contact with the soil, close-grained, inclined to check in drying; layers of annual growth marked by one to three rows of open ducts; medullary rays broad, numerous, conspicuous; color, rich dark-brown, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.8318; ash, 0.65; used for the same purposes as that of the White Oak (Q. alba).†

95. QUERCUS BICOLOR. Willdenow. Swamp White Oak. Not uncommon nor abundant, rather scattering, found on low grounds near water.—(Dr. J. A. Warder). A fine tree, attaining a height of 70 to 80 and more feet, with a trunk of 4 to 7 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, tough, close-grained, inclined to check in seasoning; layers of annual growth marked by one to three rows of large open ducts; medullary rays broad and conspicuous; color, light-brown, the sap-wood hardly distinguishable; specific gravity, 0.7662; ash, 0.58; used for the same purposes as that of the White Oak (Q. alba).

96. QUERCUS MICHAUX. Nuttal. Swamp Chestnut Oak, Basket Oak, Cow Oak. This southern tree is rare in this state, but has been seen on the Ohio river; found on wet and swampy grounds; attains a height of from 70 to 85 feet, with a trunk 4 to 7 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, very strong, tough, close-grained, compact, very durable in contact with the soil, easily split; layers of annual growth marked by few rather large open ducts; medullary rays broad, conspicuous; color, light-brown, the sap-wood darker; specific gravity, 0.8039; ash, 0.45; largely used in the manufacture of agricultural implements, wheel-stocks, baskets, for which it is unsurpassed, for cooperage, fencing, construction and fuel.

Acorns large, sweet, edible; relished by cattle and other animals.

97. QUERCUS PRINUS. Linnaeus. Chestnut Oak, Rock Chestnut Oak. Confined to the regions of sandstone, where it abounds on rocks, hills and escarpments, and makes a large tree. Plenty on the flat, sandy lands east of Cleveland.—(Dr. J. A. Warder).

Tree 70 to 90 and more feet in height, with a trunk of from 8 to 4 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, rather tough, close-grained, inclined to check in drying, durable in contact with the soil, containing few open ducts; medullary rays very broad, conspicuous; color, dark-brown, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.7499; ash, 0.77; largely used in fencing, for railroad ties, etc.

The bark, rich in tannin, is largely used in preference to that of other North American white oaks in the tanning of leather.

98. QUERCUS PRINOIDES. Willdenow. Rock Chestnut Oak, Dwarf Chestnut Oak, Chinquapin Oak, Yellow Oak. This is one of the most diminutive of all the oaks, never exceeding 3 to 4 feet in height.—(Wood). A shrub found only or chiefly on bluffs.—(Dr. Warder). U. S. Census Report says of this tree that it reaches a height of 24 to 30 or exceptionally 39 meters, to which Prof. Sargent remarks: "Differences in the size and habits of individuals of this species, thus enlarged, seem to be dependent upon soil and climate, numerous intermediate forms connecting the extremes of eastern Massachusetts and the Mississippi Valley."

Wood heavy, hard, very strong, close-grained, checking badly in drying, very durable in contact with the soil; layers of annual growth marked by rows of small open ducts; medullary rays broad, conspicuous; color, dark-brown, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.8605; ash, 1.14; used for cooperage, wheel stock, fencing, railway ties, etc.

The small acorns sweet and edible.

99. QUERCUS RUBRA. Linnaeus. Red Oak, Black Oak. A large tree, found in almost all parts of the state on various soils; it attains a height of from 80 to 100 feet, with a trunk of from 4 to 7 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, coarse-grained, inclined to check in drying; layers of annual growth marked by several rows of very large open ducts; medullary rays few, conspicuous; color, light-brown or red, the sap-wood somewhat darker; specific gravity, 0.6540; ash, 0.26; now largely used for clap-boards, cooperage, and somewhat for interior finish, in the manufacture of chairs, etc.

†[NOTE.—"This rare and remarkable species was selected for the Washington tree at the planting of the Presidential Grove in Eden Park, at Cincinnati, on the first Ohio Arbor Day, April 27, 1882."—(Dr. J. A. Warder). The tree was furnished by Dr. Warder.]

The very large factory of church furniture at Columbus, under management of Mr. Allard, uses this wood exclusive of all others; it is easily worked and takes a beautiful finish—(A. L.)

100. QUERCUS COCCINEA. Wangenheim. Scarlet Oak, Warder's Oak. "Generally distributed. This favorite park and lawn tree is one of our most ornamental oaks. Beautiful in form, of glossy green during the summer and until late in the autumn, the foliage then puts on the richest crimson and scarlet tints."—(Dr. J. A. Warder.)

A tree from 80 to 100 and more feet high, with a trunk of from 2 to 4 feet in diameter. On dry, sandy soil, less common in rich, deep soil. A constituent of the oak openings in northwestern Ohio.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, coarse-grained; layers of annual growth strongly marked by several rows of large open ducts; medullary rays thin, conspicuous; color, light brown or red, the sap-wood rather darker; specific gravity, 0.7405; ash, 0.19; not much used except for fuel.

[NOTE.—This beautiful tree was Dr. Warder's favorite. It gave the name of "Scarlet Oaks" to that part of Clifton near Cincinnati, where Mr. Schenberger's house now stands, formerly owned by Dr. Warder. The Warder family tree at North Bend, is a Scarlet Oak. A Scarlet Oak shades his last resting place in Spring Grove Cemetery. When, in 1884, on Ohio's third Arbor Day, the Ohio State Forestry Association planted FORESTERS' GROVE in memory of distinguished American Foresters, the first tree planted was a Scarlet Oak, in honor and memory of Dr. Warder, whom we fondly call the father of American Forestry. And on that memorable occasion the Forestry Association surnamed this species "Warder's Oak."—A. L.]

101. QUERCUS TINCTORIA. Bartram. Yellow Oak, Black Oak, Yellow Bark Oak. Generally distributed on dry, gravelly uplands. A large tree, attaining a height of from 80 to 100 and more feet, with a trunk of 3 to 6 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, not tough, coarse-grained, liable to check in drying; layers of annual growth marked by several rows of large open ducts; color, light brown tinged with red, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.7045; ash, 0.28; somewhat used for cooperage, construction, etc.

"From the bark of this species, quercitron, used in dyeing, is obtained, hence it is called quercitron oak. The bark is used in tanning."—(Wood.) The bark is also used medicinally in the form of decoctions in the treatment of hemorrhage.

102. QUERCUS NIGRA. Linnaeus. Black Jack, Barrens Oak, Jack Oak (not Black Oak).

A small tree, not very abundant, found on dry barren uplands, or often on heavy clay soils. It reaches a height of 40 to 50 feet, rarely higher, with a trunk of 1½ to 2 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, strong, checking badly in drying; layers of annual growth marked by several rows of large open ducts; medullary rays broad, conspicuous; color, rather dark rich brown, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.7324; ash, 1.16. Of little value, except as fuel.

103. QUERCUS PALUSTRIS. Du Roi. Pin Oak, Swamp Spanish Oak, Water Oak.

Generally distributed on low lands, with a wet clay bottom. The stems branch at a right angle, and when the trees are not crowded the leaves become pendent. As the stem increases these are covered, but as the branches die their bases do not decay, and turning black they resemble iron pins* in the log. Of course such a tree is hard to split, and the wood is inferior, even for fuel. As an ornamental tree, for separate planting in parks, the pin oak has few superiors, on account of its form, its glossy and deeply-cut foliage, and for the rich tints the leaves put on in autumn.—(Dr. J. A. Warder). Tree, 70 to 80 feet high, with a trunk of 3 to 4 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, very strong, coarse-grained, inclined to check badly in drying; layers of annual growth, marked by several rows of large open ducts; medullary rays broad, numerous, conspicuous; color, light brown, the sap-wood rather darker; specific gravity, 0.6938; ash, 0.81. Somewhat used for shingles, clap-boards, construction, and in cooperage.

104. QUERCUS HETEROPHYLLA. Michaux. Bartram's Oak.

This was long considered a unique tree in the old Bartram garden on the banks of the Schuylkill, but others have been found in New Jersey, Delaware, and even at Canton, Stark county, Ohio.—(Warder.) According to U. S. census report of 1880, it is also found in North Carolina. A rare tree, confined to few localities.

A small tree, 40 to 50 feet in height, with a trunk of 1½ to 2 feet in diameter.

*Hence the name of Pin Oak.

Wood heavy, hard, very strong, close-grained, compact; layers of annual growth marked by several rows of small open ducts; medullary rays numerous, conspicuous; color, light brown tinged with red, the sap-wood somewhat darker; specific gravity, 0.6834; ash, 0.17.

105. QUERCUS IMBRICARIA. Michaux. Laurel-leaved Oak, Jack Oak, Shingle Oak. Common on gravels of the barrens, and on terraces of the large river valleys.—(Warder.)

A beautiful tree, 50 to 70 feet high, with about 2 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, hard, rather coarse-grained, checking badly in drying; layers of annual growth marked by many rows of large open ducts; medullary rays broad, conspicuous; color, light-brown, tinged with red, the sap-wood much lighter; specific gravity, 0.7529; ash, 0.43. Little used except for fuel.

106. QUERCUS PHELLOS. Linnaeus. Willow Oak, Peach Oak.

This tree is probably not indigenous in this State, only found in cultivation.

A tree of from 30 to 60 feet in height; trunk from 1 to 2 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, strong, not hard, rather close-grained, compact; layers of annual growth, marked by several rows of small open ducts; medullary rays few, distant; color, light-brown tinged with red, the sap-wood lighter red; specific gravity, 0.7472; ash, 0.50. Timber of little value.

The following article on Scrub Oaks, by W. N. Lockinton (in Forest Leaves for September, 1886), is of interest in this connection:

North America is rich in oaks. There are no less than thirty-seven accepted species, besides varieties. As some of these are valuable lumber trees, while others are comparatively useless—two or three being mere scrubs—it is evidently of great importance to all who possess woodlands to be able to distinguish the true “scrub” oaks from young specimens of larger species, as well as to know the latter from each other on account of the difference in value of their lumber.

Our native oaks may be arranged in five categories, viz.: (1) White oaks, all of which have rather deeply lobed leaves, the veins of which never end in bristles. (2) The red and black oaks, which have more or less deeply lobed leaves, the veins of which protrude beyond the lobes as bristle-like points. (3) The chestnut oak, the leaves of which are not lobed, but simply toothed, and in shape resembling those of the chestnut. (4) The willow oaks, with narrow entire leaves like those of the willow; and (5) Evergreen oaks.

There are two species of “scrub” oak in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. One of these (Quercus prinoides) is a dwarf chestnut oak, while the other (Q. ilicifolia), the holly-leaved oak, bear oak or black scrub oak, belongs to the section with bristle-pointed leaves.

The dwarf chestnut oak may be readily distinguished from the chestnut oak (Q. Prinus) and its varieties by the following characters: The leaves are smaller and more accurately toothed, so that they resemble those of the chestnut more nearly than is the case with those of the rock chestnut oaks; the acorns are set upon the branches without, or almost without a peduncle, and are small, not much more than half the length, or half the diameter of the large ovoid fruits of the rock chestnut oak; and the acorn cup is thin instead of thick. In the Alleghenies this species becomes a tree. The holly-leaved scrub oak may be identified through its name. The leaves are quite holly like, from two to four inches long, not deeply cut but with about five angular points, each one ending in a bristle; and the acorn is smaller than even that of the dwarf chestnut oak, with a flattish cup. There can be no danger that any one that has once noticed the difference will ever confound the small angular leaves of this crooked little shrub, downy underneath as they are, with the large deeply-cut and not downy leaves of the red scarlet or black oak, and still less with the rather leathery, broadly-wedge-shaped and but slightly-cut leaves of the black jack oak; especially as young examples of these trees have leaves exceeding in size those of full grown trees. The pine oak (Q. palustris) has small leaves, but they are deeply-cut and the lobes themselves are toothed.

The dwarf chestnut oak shares with the dwarf chestnut the title “chinquapin.” The bear or holly leaved oak is abundant on sterile soil, yet even in such localities as in the pine barrens of New Jersey, oaks of other and better species are common, while the oaks of the scrubby woods of richer soil often consist entirely of young trees of the more valuable species, prevented from reaching their proper development either by fires, undue crowding, or periodical cutting. The other dwarf oaks, two of them dwarf willow oaks, occur in the Southern States, and three others inhabit the Pacific region.

107. CASTANEA PUMILA. Michaux. Dwarf Chestnut, Chinquapin. A small tree (in the Atlantic States a low shrub); attaining a height of usually 6 to 20 feet, sometimes more; trunk 1 to 2 feet in diameter. In rich woods. Southern Ohio.

Wood light, hard, strong, coarse-grained, durable in contact with the ground, liable to check in drying; layers of annual growth marked by many rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, dark-brown, the sap-wood hardly distinguishable; specific gravity, 0.5887; ash, 0.12; used for posts, rails, railway ties. The small nuts sweet and edible.

108. CASTANEA VULGARIS, VAR. AMERICANA. A. DeCandolle. Castanea vesca Gaertner, var. Americana, Michaux; Fagus Castanea, Wangenheim; Chestnut. Generally distributed in the eastern part of the State, as it prefers the sandstone, and does not usually thrive on the drifts and limestones. This is one of our most valuable forest-trees where it can be grown, as its timber is used for many purposes; is durable, easily split for domestic uses on the farm, such as posts and rails, and is beautifully grained for furniture and joiner work; sufficiently strong, and best of all for the planter; where the trees are felled a new growth of sprouts will come from the stumps, which, in a few years, yield better timber than the first crop. The nuts are agreeable and yield a good revenue. When the trees are planted as an orchard, with room to spread, and, when they have stood fifty years, the new growth, after felling the first, will fully occupy the space of the orchard trees, as several will spring from each stump.—(Warder.)

The tree attains a height of from 80 to 100 feet and more, with a trunk of from 6 to 12 feet in diameter.

Wood light, soft, not strong, coarse-grained, liable to check and warp in drying, easily split, very durable in contact with the soil, "hence much used for posts, etc."—(Wood.) Layers of annual growth marked by many rows of large open ducts; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, brown, the sap-wood lighter; specific gravity, 0.4504; ash, 0.18; largely used in cabinet making, for railway ties, etc.

Leaves used medicinally.

Fruit smaller but sweeter than that of the European species.

109. FAGUS FERRUGINEA. Aiton. Beech. Common, sometimes forming forests to the exclusion of other species. "As an ornamental tree, when planted separately, it is one of the most beautiful, with its dependent branches and foliage of tender green, becoming golden in autumn."—(Warder). A large tree, 80 to 100 and more feet high, with a trunk of from 3 to 4 feet in diameter, preferring rich woods.

Wood very hard, strong, tough, very close-grained, not durable in contact with the soil, inclined to check in drying, difficult to season, susceptible of a beautiful polish; medullary rays broad, very conspicuous; color, varying greatly with soil and situation, dark-red, or often lighter, the sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.6883; ash, 0.51; largely used in the manufacture of chairs, shoe-lasts, plane-stocks, handles, etc., and for fuel.

Regarding the wood and its uses, Dr. Warder remarks: "The wood is hard, close-grained, and valuable in the arts, and excellent for fuel and charcoal. A tree of thirty inches had 100 annual rings; another of four feet in diameter, had 400 rings. White Beech of the woodsmen is the same species, but of inferior character to that known as Red Beech. The difference is referred to some varying conditions not understood."

110. OSTRYA VIRGINICA. Willdenow. Hop Hornbeam, Iron Wood, Lever Wood. Common, generally on dry, gravelly hill sides and knolls. A small tree, attaining a height of from 30 to 50 feet, with a trunk 1 to 2 feet in diameter.

Wood heavy, very strong and hard, tough, very close-grained, compact, susceptible of a beautiful polish, very durable in contact with the soil; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, light-brown, tinged with red, or, like the sap-wood, often nearly white; specific gravity, 0.8284; ash, 0.50; used for posts, levers, handles of tools, etc.

111. CARPINUS CAROLINIANA. Walter. Hornbeam, Blue Beech, Water Beech, Iron Wood. A small tree, from 30 to 50 feet in height, with a trunk from 2 to 3 feet in diameter (in Ohio usually not of such great height and diameter, in fact, often only a mere shrub), on borders of streams and swamps.

Wood heavy, very strong and hard, close-grained, inclined to check in drying, medullary rays numerous, broad; color, light-brown, the thick sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.7286; ash, 0.83; sometimes used for levers, handles of tools, etc.

BETULACEAE. (Birch Family.)

112. BETULA ALBA, var. POPULIFERA. Spach. American White Birch, Old field Birch, Gray Birch. Tree more frequent in the northern than in the central and southern portions of Ohio, springing up in pastures and clearings.

A small tree, short-lived, but of rapid growth; attains a height of 30 to 40 feet, with a trunk of from 1 to 1½ feet in diameter.

Wood light, soft, not strong, close-grained, liable to check in drying, not durable; medullary rays numerous, obscure; color, light-brown, the sap-wood nearly white; specific gravity, 0.5760; ash, 0.29; largely used in the manufacture of spools, shoe-pegs, wood-pulp, etc., for hoop-poles, and fuel.

Bark and leaves, as well as those of B. papyrifera and B. lenta, are popularly esteemed as a remedy for the various chronic diseases of the skin, bladder, etc., and for rheumatic and gouty complaints.

This is hardly an ornamental tree, though it has been called the poor man's evergreen, and is numerous planted for screens and wind-breaks, and very comfortable it is, too, about our dwellings. The tree attains a fair size, and with years, and accumulation of heart-wood, it becomes valuable for durability as posts. In youth the sap-wood prevails, which is white and prone to decay; useless except for cooperage, but, if matured, so durable is it that, when Kelly's Island was cleared of white oak forest that was 200 years old, the logs of the previous crop of red cedar were sufficiently sound as post timber."—(Dr. Warder).

NOTE.—In reducing the various returns to a common standard a cord was reckoned to weigh 11,000 pounds, and to contain 128 cubic feet. Where the amount of lime burned was returned (instead of the amount of stone) it was converted into tons of stone upon the basis of 140 pounds of stone to the bushel of lime (70 pounds) and 210 pounds of lime to the barrel. Where block or cubic stone for paving has been returned by the cord or cubic yard it has been reduced to square feet, upon the assumption that the blocks were six inches deep, and one cubic foot or yard would make two square measure. Where flagging has been returned by cubic measure it has been reckoned that the flags were four inches in thickness, and that one cubic foot or yard would make three square measure.

¹ Returns incomplete. There were probably 5,000 miles of single track in the State in 1879.

² This mileage is complete and accurate for the State—except it does not include private side tracks—and the increase in mileage is due almost entirely to incomplete reports previous to 1886.

APPENDIX.

REPORT OF THE OHIO BOARD OF PHARMACY.

CHILLICOTHE, OHIO, November 14, 1887.

HON. J. S. ROBINSON, Secretary of State:

SIR: In accordance with the provisions of the statute, I hereby submit, on behalf of the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, the fourth annual report of the labors of said Board, ending with November 15, 1887.

In March, 1887, Governor Foraker appointed Wm. R. Ogier to membership on the Board made vacant by expiration of the term of service of Philip H. Bruck April 1, 1887. Since which time the Board has been composed of the following persons:

Wm. R. Ogier, of Columbus;
F. T. Bower, of Toledo;
J. A. Nipgen, of Chillicothe.

E. M. Hatton, of Zanesville;
John Weyer, of Cincinnati;

At a meeting held April 1, 1887, the Board was reorganized by the election of the following officers:

E. M. Hatton, President.
F. T. Bower, Vice-President.
J. A. Nipgen, Secretary and Treasurer.

The pharmacy law of the State became operative in 1884, and by its provisions all persons then engaged in the practice of pharmacy who complied with the provisions of section 4,407, were made recipients of certificates of registration without examination. All certificates issued by this Board being renewable, with certain limitations, at the expiration of three years, the labor devolving upon the Board in the reissue of certificates and the re-registration of the majority of the pharmacists and assistant pharmacists of the State has been, during the current year, very great.

The following exhibit is submitted:

1884.	Number pharmacists registered without examination.....	2,745

During the year the following meetings for the examination of candidates have been held :

1886—November 23, at Columbus. 1887—January 10, at Cincinnati; March 1, at Columbus; May 10, at Columbus; July 19, at Toledo; October 10, at Cleveland.

At these examinations 290 appeared to register as pharmacists, and 182 as assistant pharmacists. Of these applicants, 147 received certificates of competency and were registered as pharmacists, and 92 as assistant pharmacists.

Lists of the names of those re-registered this year, numbered 1, 2 and 3, and of those registered in 1885-6 and 7, numbered 4 and 5, are appended and form part of this report.

A statement of the financial condition of the Board, with an itemized account of receipts and expenditures, is herewith transmitted, and forms a part of this report.

At the recent session of the General Assembly an amendment to the pharmacy law was enacted, making it the duty of the Board of Pharmacy to prosecute all cases of violations of the law, and in obedience to this requirement due notice has been served upon all those persons known to be engaged in the illegal traffic in drugs and medicines. It is gratifying to be able to state that in about every instance a single notice has been sufficient to cause the statute to be properly respected. We have, however, one case now in the common pleas court of Clinton county, wherein the defendant proposes to test the ability of the State to enforce the law regulating the practice of pharmacy.

It is the humble opinion of the members of this Board, based upon observation and experience in its service, that no law has been enacted in recent years capable of producing more beneficial results to the people of this commonwealth, than the one this Board is charged with executing. Each year of its existence brings additional testimony to its efficiency in elevating the standard of a profession where such great responsibility attains, in eradicating from its ranks the ignorant and incompetent, and in securing to the confiding public that measure of protection to life and health which it is the mission of the State to secure to the people who compose it. Respectfully,

JOHN A. NIPGEN, Secretary.
